VOL. 45. VICTORIA, B. C. FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1907. No. 64.

WIRELESS TO BE INSTALLED AT ONCE

Victoria City Will Have One and Others Are to Be Located as Aids to Navigation on Pacific Coast.

The wireless telegraph system on this coast is to be installed at once. It will be as aids to navigation that these stations will be fitted up and the acting minister of marine and fisheries, Hon. W. Templeman, has given instructions to have the work carried out just as quickly as it can be done.

Cecil Deutrie, commissioner of wireless telegraphy and superintendent of wireless stations for the Dominion government, is at present in Victoria in connection with this work. He will have workmen engaged on the work of installing the plants within a day or two, and as quickly as the work can be done stations along the southern part of the British Columbia coast will be established. Within six weeks the first of the new wireless stations will be in running order. These will be at Victoria and Pachena Point, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The others decided upon will be put into order with all expedition also.

There are five now decided upon all along the southern portion of the British Columbia coast.

In addition to Victoria and Pachena Point, above mentioned, there will be a station at Vancouver, located either at Point Grey or Stanley Park, another will be at Estevan Point, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, and one at Cape Lazo, on the east coast of the Island, opposite Texada Island.

This will but be the beginning of this system of aids to navigation which the government has decided to extend to this coast. Later the system will be extended by the erection of additional wireless stations all along the coast as far as Prince Rupert. Within a year probably the continuous chain of stations may be built along the entire British Columbia coast.

The policy of the government, Mr. Doutrie says, is to establish a number of smaller stations at frequent intervals rather than locate a few large ones. The reason of this is obvious when it is remembered that the stations are primarily for the benefit of the shipping interests, and by the location of a greater number constant communication may be kept up with coasting steamers which equip themselves with wireless. The introduction of the system on the coast will result in the rapid introduction of the apparatus on the different steamers on the coast to enable communication to be kept up. Already the C. P. R. has decided to equip the Princess May and the Princess Royal with the necessary apparatus.

The different stations will be fitted up in a substantial way. There will be a residence of two storeys for the chief operator and his family, and accommodation also for two additional operators. This will provide for a continuous service at the stations. Where lighthouses are located the wireless will be installed in the same building. This will be the case at Pachena Point. At Esteman Point, where no lighthouse yet is built, the two will be combined, the lighthouse section being installed in the wireless building.

The system to be installed is the Shoemaker, which is regarded as the best by Mr. Doutrie, who made a study of the various systems on behalf of the government before a decision was reached. The Shoemaker has the advantage that it is capable of interchanging with the De Forrest, the Stone, the Marconi and the Massie systems. A long wave is used in connection with it, so that the messages will carry about 200 or 250 miles to sea. It is hoped that Pachena may be able to communicate directly with Victoria by wireless. The distance separating the two points is not sufficient to establish any difficulty, but Mr. Doutrie says some obsacle may be found from the fact of the high elevations which separate them. This will be a matter for experimenting before it can be said definitely that the messages can be exchanged directly. In any event communication can be carried on, using Tatoosh on the American side as a connecting point.

There will be two engineers located on the coast in connection with the work, one will be at Victoria and one at Vancouver.

The installing of these stations will make a new departure in connection with wireless. The station will be government owned and government operated. Of the stations in the East there are many of which are owned by the government, but are operated under contract with the Marconi company.

There are on the eastern coast the following stations, Father Point, Heath Point, Anticosti, Cape Bear, P. E. I., Pictou, N. S., Whittle Rocks and Armour Point, Labrador, Belle Isle, Point Rich, Point Ray and Point Race, Newfoundland; Sydney, C. B.; Cape Sable, N. S., St. John's, N. B.; and the public works station at Quebec and Goose Island. At Halifax and Sable Island are Marconi stations.

Mr. Doutrie may need to leave for the East before all are installed. If he does he will return about September.

The stations will be equipped with three horse power gasoline engines and a 1 K. W. 60 cycle alternator. There will be a 180 foot mast. The steel rigging has already been ordered and is on the way to the coast.

JEWELS STOLEN FROM A TRUNK

MRS ELIOT OF THIS CITY SUFFERS LOSS

The Loss is a Mystery---Many Were Valuable From Their Associations.

Jewellery of a large value, from its intrinsic worth, and practically priceless from its sentimental associations, was cleverly stolen from a trunk containing the trosseau of Mrs. Victor Eliot, nee Langley, who, with Mr. Eliot, returned to Victoria last night from England. The stolen property consisted of several heirlooms and tokens of an inestimable value, besides a number of costly wedding presents, the full list being as follows: An enamel locket containing a miniature portrait of the late Queen Victoria and a lock of her hair; another miniature of the late Queen of a small size framed in diamonds; a ruby and diamond pendant; diamond and pearl earrings; two very costly bracelets; a pearl star amethyst and a pearl pendant.

The jewels were enclosed in three packages and locked in a dispatch box, and this box was in turn packed in a large trunk which contained Mrs. Eliot's wedding gowns and presents. The trunk was insured for £300, about $1,500, at Lloyd's, and was in the hands of the C. P. R. Company from Liverpool, Eng., to Victoria. The loss was not discovered until Mrs. Eliot arrived in the city last night. While her luggage was being unpacked at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Walter Langley, Pemberton road, with whom she is staying, it was found that the dispatch box had been broken open and the jewels taken. The thief had not deigned to take the jewel cases, and had not disturbed the other valuable presents and belongings in the trunk. The most puzzling feature about the robbery was that the trunk had been opened with a key and had been locked again by the thief. In the box was found a grimy piece of wood about two inches long and one inch wide, but what this signified, or what connection it had with the theft, it is difficult to say. Beyond the fact that it must have been placed there by the thief, and the surmise that it was used to prop the lid of the trunk open while the jewels were being taken, there is no explanation of its presence. Mr. and Mrs. Eliot left England on June 16th on the C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain. After the trunk was delivered into the hands of the company it was not seen again by its owner until last evening, when the startling and unpleasant discovery of her loss was made.

The loss of the locket containing the last Queen's portrait, in miniature, together with a lock of the sovereign's hair, is most keenly felt by Mrs. Eliot. It was presented to her on her wedding day by Mr. Eliot, to whose mother it was given as a personal token by the late Queen. Every possible effort will be made to trace the jewelry, and a substantial reward will be offered for the recovery of any or all of it. The police throughout the continent have been notified, and the C. P. R. Company has been requested to do all possible to trace the stolen property. No theory can be advanced to explain the loss of the jewelry that can be given pre-eminence, and it is quite possible that the theft was committed before Mrs. Eliot left Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot were married in St. Margaret's church, London, Eng., on May 6th, the bridegroom being Victor George Eliot, son of the Very Reverend the Dean of Windsor, and godson of the late Queen Victoria. The marriage was a brilliant one, being distinguished by the presence of royalty and people of social prominence. Mr. and Mrs. Eliot intend to make their home in Victoria for at least two or three years.

TROOPS GUARD DOCKS.

Laborers at Belfast Are on Strike—Soldiers Are Assisting Police.

(Associated Press).

Belfast, Ireland, June 28.—The dock laborers here are on strike and channel traffic is greatly interrupted with it. Five hundred soldiers with rifles are assisting the police to guard the docks.

A great body of strikers marched yesterday through the principal streets, and after attempting to loot a number of wagons belonging to shipping companies they were dispersed.

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES.

Returns of Capital Invested Show Large Increase For 1905. Compared With 1900.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, June 27.—A bulletin issued to-day shows the capital invested in Canadian industries for 1905 to be $843,931,178, an increase of $397,000,000, or 90 per cent. over 1900. The production only increased 50 per cent. The apparent disparity in these ratios of increase was due to the inability of recently established works to produce their full capacity. In cars and car works for example the ratio of production to capital in 1900 was 151 and in 1905 it was 101; in Portland cement works it was 86 and 15; in smelting works 97 and 32, and electric light works 17 and 9 for the years respectively.

The five years have been a growing period in industrial investment, and the full results are not yet realized.

FOR FAMINE SUFFERERS.

(Associated Press).

St. Petersburg, June 28.—An imperial ukase issued last night directs M. Kokovosoff, the finance minister, to issue $25,000,000 in four per cent. rentes for the purposes set forth in the buget, including famine relief.

The council of ministers has invested the commandants of all the imperial palaces with exceptional powers.

PLOT AMONG THE MINE OWNERS

ALLEGED BY DEFENCE IN HAYWOOD CASE

Attorneys for Accused Claim They Will Prove Conspiracy to Crush Federation.

(Associated Press).

Boise, Idaho, June 28.—The effort of the defence to open the way for a showing of a general conspiracy extending over many states on the part of the mine owners to crush out the Western Federation of Miners, has now become one of the interesting features of the trial of Wm. D. Haywood. The state is resisting this very earnestly. So far Judge Wood has ruled that evidence showing a conspiracy in the states of Idaho and Colorado will be admitted on the promise that the defence will connect this later with their line of defence. But the defence has not given up their effort to widen the field and to-day the struggle is being resumed. The counter conspiracy and not the discrediting of Orchard has now come to the front.

W. B. Easterly, who as a member of the famous Altman Union No. 19, of Cripple Creek, on the strike committee and who Orchard swore was one of the men with whom he made the arrangements for more than one crime, is still on the stand. By him other links in the chain of the alleged conspiracy of the mine owners and the work of the detectives employed by them to create feeling against the Western Federation will be put in evidence.

Incidentally Easterly fully contradicted every statement Orchard made in connection with the Independence depot, or the Vindicator mine.

Clarence Darrow, who is conducting the defence, asserts positively that he proposes to go directly if possible into the conspiracy of the mine owners and claims if he succeeds in broadening the scope he will be able to prove that a widespread conspiracy exists.

The state insists that the defence must lay its foundation for the proof of a general conspiracy in the same way as was done by their witness, Orchard, and the separate cases do not suffice. Mr. Darrow says that he can bring one of the Pinkerton agency in as one of the chief conspirators and has one witness who will fully support his charge.

PAGEANT AT OXFORD.

Was Illustrative of Events in History—Mark Twain Among the Guests.

(Associated Press).

Oxford, Eng., June 28.—Mark Twain yesterday was an interested spectator at the opening of the elaborate pageant illustrative of events in the history of Oxford and the university which occupied 7 months in preparation and in the rehearsal of which some 3,000 performers engaged. The spectacle was favored by fine weather and was pronounced the most brilliant and most effective of the kind ever held. Chancellor Curzon with the members of the university in their official robes and insignia, conducted the distinguished guests, including Mark Twain and Rudyard Kipling, to the pageant grounds. There were sixteen scenes, illustrating a thousand years of history, the arranging of which has been in the hands of Oxford's best scholars and writers, including Stanley Weyman, Lawrence Housman and A. T. Quiller-Couch. It formed a beautiful spectacle of pictorial imaginative drama.

Mark Twain said afterwards: "It is beyond anything I had imagined. I never meant to journey over any sea again, except at my own funeral. But I would cross the Atlantic twice to see it."

Germany's colonies are five times as big as herself, those of France eighteen times, and Britain's ninety-seven times bigger than herself.

TRAGEDIES ACROSS THE BORDER

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN CALIFORNIA

Telegraph Lineman Shot His Former Wife and Her Mother in Seattle.

(Special to the Times.)

Fresno, June 28.—William Stulz, a butcher, killed his wife Louise, shot his aged mother-in-law in the head and then killed himself late last night.

Recently Stulz got the idea that his wife and her mother were conspiring against him.

The women started to run when Stulz pulled a gun, but he intercepted them and shot them both.

Double Murder in Seattle.

Seattle, June 27.—Dow Smith, a telegraph lineman, shot and almost instantly killed his former wife, Mrs. Anna Smith, and then fatally wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Gill, at the residence of the women at 601 North Sixty-second street, on the western side of Green Lake shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Gill died about noon. Smith gave himself up and is in the city jail.

Smith went to the house this morning and asked to talk with the women. This was refused him and he opened the kitchen door and stepped in. Mrs. Smith, from whom he was divorced about two months ago, told him to go out, but instead he pulled a bottle which was supposed to have contained poison and putting it to his lips said: "I will drink this!"

He did so, and just as his wife turned around he pulled a gun and shot her twice, once in the head and again in the back. She died almost instantly.

As soon as he was heard to exclaim that he would drink the poison, his mother-in-law came into room. After shooting his wife, Smith turned the gun on his mother-in-law and shot her in the neck. She ran into another room and there fell. She lived about one hour and twenty minutes after being shot.

From the neighbors of the Smith family it was learned that the two had been married and divorced twice. The shooting was the result of Smith attempting to induce his wife to return to him. About two months ago, Mrs. Smith obtained a divorce from her husband. Later Mrs. Ethel Brownell, a sister of Mrs. Smith, had Smith arrested on a charge of assaulting and beating his former wife. He was acquitted of the charge and then went to San Francisco to work with a telephone company. Smith returned from California about ten days ago, and has been seen in the neighborhood of his wife's home several times in the last few days.

Smith claims to be 73 years of age, but has the appearance of a man about 55. His wife is 41 and his mother-in-law is 64.

After arriving at the police station, Dow Smith made the following statement: "My wife's sister caused all of the trouble between my wife and me. When I went to San Francisco it was her efforts that caused Mrs. Smith to get a divorce. I went to the house this morning to try to make up with my wife. Her mother kept 'butting in.' I told her that if she did not keep out of our affairs I would be compelled to hurt her. I then continued to talk to Mrs. Smith, and her mother kept interrupting. I then pulled a bottle of laudanum from my pocket and drank some of it, and her mother continued to annoy me. I could stand it no longer, so I pulled the revolver and shot her. I must have been crazed by the drink, because I then turned and shot my wife, a thing that I never had intended to do. I would have shot myself, but I thought the laudanum would do the work."

BATHING FATALITIES IN SASKATCHEWAN

Young Man Drowned in River at Prince Albert--Boy Lost Life in Pond.

(Associated Press).

Prince Albert, Sask., June 28.—Fred Simpson, a young man of 21, was drowned while bathing in the Saskatchewan river last night. Simpson and another man dived from the ferry when it had left the bank about 50 feet, but when he rose to the surface had by some means lost power to swim. His companion went to his assistance, and went under with him twice, and then started to swim ashore with Simpson holding on by his shoulders. Simpson's hands slipped and in a moment he had disappeared. The ferryman and a passenger put out in a boat, but Simpson had gone down in the current, before they could reach him, and they had to save another bather who, though a poor swimmer, had started to his rescue.

Boy Drowned.

Whitewood, Sask., June 28.—Walker Hamill, eight years of age, was drowned in a pond near the town last evening while bathing along with two other little boys of about his own age, none of whom could swim.

HELD PRISONER BY CHINESE.

White Girl Found by Portland Police, Who Were Raiding a Gambling Den.

Portland, Ore., June 27.—While making a raid on a Chinese gambling den in this city yesterday, the police found a white girl named Alma Church, whose residence is in Spokane, who had been held in captivity more than three years.

According to the girl's story she was trapped while visiting a Chinese restaurant, and taken to a barred room, which she was never allowed to leave except when closely guarded. The girl is terror stricken and almost a nervous wreck.

The finding of the girl winds up a mystery which the detectives have been trying to solve for more than a year. At that time they were informed by a reliable person that while passing Second and Taylor streets he saw a white woman at a barred window, and that she appealed to him to rescue her. Detectives were rushed to the house and a search made, but the girl had been secreted in the meantime. A warrant has been issued for the girl's captor, but up to the present he has eluded arrest.

SENTENCE ON SCHMITZ DEFERRED

ACTION OF THE JUDGE DENOUNCED

Prosecution Has Not Decided Whether Other Extortion Charges Will Be Pressed.

San Francisco, June 27.—Over the angry protests of the defence, who denounced it as "an outrage upon justice," Judge Dunne to-day granted the request of the prosecution for delay and withheld until Monday, July 8th, the sentence of Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz for the crime of extortion, of which he was found guilty June 13th.

In the presence of a great crown in his courtroom in the Temple Israel shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, Judge Dunne called the convicted mayor for sentence, first inquiring whether it was the purpose of the prosecution to press against him the other four extortion indictments returned by the grand jury. The court intimated that if the district attorney so intended, the sentence about to be pronounced would be less severe than if other prosecutions were to be abandoned.

District Attorney Langdon declared that the state had not made up its mind on the point and asked for another week in which to consider it. Incidentally he admitted that the prosecution was not prepared to argue against the defence's motion for a new trial, which would naturally precede the imposition of a sentence.

Attorney Fairall, for the defence, replied that the latter did not desire to argue, but would submit that motion. He insisted upon the right of the mayor to obtain sentence at once, so that he could without further delay take an appeal to the higher court for the new trial, which Judge Dunne would refuse.

Judge Dunne finally granted the delay on the assurance of the district attorney that by July 8th the state would say whether or not the other extortion charges would be prosecuted.

This action by the court so incensed the mayor's attorneys that one of them, W. H. Metson, accused Judge Dunne of outraging justice.

To this and kindred remarks the judge replied: "This court has been patient for so long I presume it can be patient a little longer. Your remarks are almost offensive."

The granted delay means that Mayor Schmitz must spend twelve more days in the county jail before applying to the higher court for bail on the strength of an appeal taken.

Abe Ruef was in Judge Dunne's court for sentence yesterday. With the consent of both sides, the matter was continued for two weeks.

May Be Asked to Resign.

The Call says to-day: "The resignation of Chief of Police Dinan may be formally requested at the meeting of the board of police commissioners this afternoon. If the members should find themselves in a mood averse to such a drastic step one of them may be appointed to ask Dinan to file an application for an extended leave of absence. In any event, the chief of police is to go and Col. Thomas Wilhelm, of Gov. Gillette's staff, will be appointed acting head of the department."

To Prevent Grafting.

It has been announced by Rudolph Spreckles that he has almost perfected a plan for a permanent safeguard against the grafters, and that he hoped to put it in operation by the first of the year. The plan contemplates the formation of a civic auditing agency, which is to follow every movement of the city government and keep close watch on the officials from the mayor down. Spreckles said that he figured that the scheme could be put into practice at an expense of $100,000 a year, and that it would effect a saving to the taxpayers of $3,000,000 or $3,500,000 a year.

NEW MARKET FOR FRUIT OF PROVINCE

Dominion Official Says That New Zealand is Anxious for British Columbia Products ---Trade Prospects.

The fame of British Columbia's fruit has spread to New Zealand and the outcome of the recent exhibition held at Christ Church will be an extension of trade between the colonies. On board the Alfey liner Bucentaur, which reached port this morning, was A. W. Despard, decorator and installer of the exhibition branch of the department of agriculture of the Dominion government. Mr. Despard is on his way back to Ottawa, now that the exhibition is over.

At the recent exhibition the first of British Columbia's fruits were shown to the people of New Zealand. Two hundred and ten cases were on exhibit and these contained about 35 varieties. The result of the exhibit is that New Zealand is now anxiously awaiting the time when the fruit can be imported to the country.

Mr. Despard has interviewed the leading merchants in the four great distributing centres of New Zealand, in Auckland, Wellington, Christ Church and Dunedin, and they are all anxious to enter into negotiations with Canadian merchants. British Columbia fruit can be obtained when New Zealand fruit is out of season and for this reason the trade is likely to assume large proportions. On his arrival in Eastern Canada Mr. Despard will at once communicate with wholesale fruit merchants in the principal cities and he is of opinion that they will send agents out to this province to arrange for the first shipments of fruits to New Zealand. The big merchants in New Zealand have signified their willingness to take the fruit in large quantities.

In the estimation of Mr. Despard the first shipments will amount to some two or three thousand cases. But he says that this amount will probably quadruple in a few years' time. The shipments will be carried either by the Canadian-Australian liners or else by the vessels of the Alley line.

At a recent exhibit the Canadian Court obtained the highest award as a collective exhibit. "It was," said Mr. Despard, "the most comprehensive court in the entire exhibition." The exhibition was almost entirely of a colonial character, although England had a court, which Mr. Despard said took the highest award from an educational viewpoint.

Each of the Canadian exhibitors who showed goods in the Christ Church exhibition is entitled to his part of the grand award. He can also use it in the advertisement of his goods. Unlike other exhibitions in which Canada has taken part, the Dominion court in the recent exhibit was made up entirely of manufactured goods.

Mr. Despard is highly enthusiastic with regard to the future of the trade between Canada and New Zealand, and more especially between British Columbia and that country inasmuch as he says that this province possesses inestimable advantages in view of its location along the seaboard. Goods from this province, he says, can be shipped almost altogether by sea, whereas commodities coming from the east are charged prohibitive freight rates by the overland routes. He says that New Zealand will take every kind of fruit as well as tomatoes and tinned fish.

Another industry about which Mr. Despard was very anxious to hear was the manufacture of paper; New Zealand, he said, already procured two-thirds of the paper which she used from Canada, and the news that this coast was about to operate mills had spread to the Antipodes. Merchants were very anxious to hear when it would be possible to procure paper direct from British Columbia, as at present they were paying large prices for the commodity which they procured from the east of the Dominion.

Mr. Despard has had five years' experience of exhibition work, during which time he has been in London, Milan, St. Louis and many other American cities. Mrs. Despard is travelling with her husband. On board the steamer Mouna, now on her way to this port from Australia, are W. A. Burns and T. H. Race, who were the Dominion commissioners at the recent exhibition.

UNWILLING AERONAUT.

Little Girl Carried Into Air By a Bundle of Toy Balloons.

(Associated Press).

Chicago, June 28.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Rockport, Texas, says:

"Ninna, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moody, of Waco, was carried into the air yesterday by a bundle of toy balloons which an Italian peddler on the verandah of the hotel tied around her waist, thinking to please her. Before the spectators could recover from their surprise she was wafted out to sea, fifty feet in the air. A launch occupied by George Hanaffer, of Denver, was in the bay and he came to the little girl's rescue. Firing at the bundle of balloons he punctured several of them and she began to settle downward, finally landing safely twelve feet from the shore of St. Joseph Island.

SUCCESSFUL EVENT.

Ladies of All Saints' Church, Alberni, Held Sale of Work and Entertainment.

(Special to the Times.)

Alberni, June 28.—The Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' church, Alberni, held a most successful sale of work in the church grounds on the evening of June 26th. The various stalls were prettily decorated and the many useful and fancy articles, ice cream, fruit and tea found ready sale. The evening was enlivened by the strains of the large gramaphones kindly lent by the C. P. R. survey party. The ladies feel very grateful to all who so kindly helped to make the social so successful. The weather was all that could be desired. One and all of those present declared it to be the most pleasant gathering held in Alberni.

ICE MEN WILL STRIKE.

Drivers of Wagons Decide to Quit Work—Action Will Cause Suffering.

(Associated Press).

New York, June 28.—A strike of ice-wagon drivers in the employ of the American Ice Company was determined upon last night, to take effect immediately. Between 1,500 and 2,000 men will be involved. The strike, if it is started, will cause great suffering, particularly in the tenement districts, as the prices of independent dealers may be advanced. The movement is in reality to force recognition of the union, although there is a slight dispute about pay and hours of employment. The drivers say their hours are too long. The strike of the ice-wagon drivers last year was attended with considerable violence.

ROCKEFELLER MUST APPEAR.

Chicago, June 28.—The attorneys for the Standard Oil Company to-day appealed to the United States court for the withdrawal of subpoena against John D. Rockefeller. Judge Lanty refused to grant the request.

THREE MEN EXECUTED.

They Killed Guard in Attempt to Escape From Missouri Penitentiary.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 28.—Harry Vaughan, Edward Raymond and Geo. Ryan were hanged in the county jail here for the killing of Prison Guard John Clay in a concerted attempt to escape from the penitentiary. The trio were hanged at the same moment.

The execution of Vaughan, Ryan and Raymond is the termination of a desperate attempt made by the three named, and E. Blake, another convict, on the afternoon of November 24th, 1905, to escape from the penitentiary. In the outbreak Blake and Prison Guards John Clay and E. Ellison were shot dead.

GERMANY'S RULERS.

Germany is ruled by one Emperor, our kings, six grand dukes, seven princes and one simple count. These sovereigns occupy very different degrees of importance, even in the eyes of their own immediate subjects, but in one degree or another they all enjoy the dignities and privileges of kingship, and all have to face some of the responsibilities of state. Every one of them has a capital and a court of his own. Some of the capitals are not very big cities, but they are all very proud. Among them are places with populations of 11,000, 9,000, 6,000 and 5,000. Arolsen, the capital of the principality of Waldeck-Pyrmont, has only 2,620 inhabitants. The entire population of the principality of Lichtenstein, the smallest of them all, is about 9,500 souls. The capital is Vaduz, with 1,139 inhabitants.

To-day the city schools closed for the summer months, giving pupils and teachers an opportunity to renew their strength preparatory to the work of the fall session.

The schools will re-open August 26th.

The epidemic of measles, which has prevailed in the city for some weeks has seriously interfered with the routine of the schools for some weeks past, and in consequence in a number of them closing exercises were dispensed with to-day.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The following promotions were made in the High school. Preparatory Classes to junior grade:—

POLICE COURT.

Cases Brought Up To-Day—Several Laid Over Until Next Week.

Two further convictions under the provisions of the Militia Act were made in the city police court to-day, when Magistrate Hall imposed fines of $5 each on two gunners of the 5th Regt. R. C. A., for refusing to attend parade. W. H. Langley prosecuted.

City Solicitor Mann appeared for the city in two cases of infracting the civic by-laws. Dr. A. R. Baker, representative of the Ford Motor Cycle Company, of Vancouver, was charged with selling automobiles and supplies without a license. J. Stuart Yates, who appeared on Mr. Baker's behalf, entered a plea of not guilty, and the case was remanded until Friday next, July 5th.

George R. Webster was charged with failure to pay the poll taxes for his employees, and pleaded not guilty. This case was also remanded until the 5th.

Another remand was also allowed in the case of V. Steemeetree, a Greek, charged with an assault upon B. Maarmas, with intent to kill. J. A. Aikman is appearing for the defence. Emma Wilson, a half-breed woman, who is charged by James McDonald with stealing his watch, was remanded until to-morrow.

The city detective department is in receipt of a communication from Hutchinson, Kansas, in which information is asked regarding the whereabouts of W. H. Land, a stock man, who was last heard from while in this city.

—In consequence of Monday being Dominion Day and a legal holiday, the city council will not meet until Tuesday evening next.

—The special committee appointed by the board of parks commissioners to draft by-laws for the regulation of that body, completed its work this morning and will report at the next meeting of the commissioners.

—Don't hesitate. My sale is on, and you should shoe here. Not one line but every line is reduced at prices that are so low that everyone should take advantage. For the next nine days we will carry on this sale, so as to make room for our new importations. Sale opened to-day. For prices and particulars follow J. Fullerton's, the shoe man's ad. in this issue.

—Only one change was made in the officers of the provincial W. C. T. U. at the annual election in Vancouver on Wednesday. This was the election of Mrs. Spofford, of Victoria, to succeed Mrs. Watsan as president. The election was by acclamation. The other three officers re-elected are: Corresponding secertary, Mrs. H. A. Cunningham, who has been acting president for several months owing to the illness of Mrs. Watson; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Victoria, and treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Grant, Victoria.

—At a meeting of the Victoria Motor Club held last night for the purpose of completing arrangements for to-morrow's excursion to Alberni, it was decided to extend invitations to a number of non-members. These guests include the local members of the legislature, F. L. Elworthy, secretary of the board of trade, H. Cuthbert, secretary of the tourist association and members of the special committee appointed by the board of trade to confer with the government officials on the matter of building a road along Saanich Inlet to Mill Bay. The party, numbering about 60, will leave the Driard hotel in a score of cars at 8.30 a. m. to-morrow, and will be absent three days.

HONORS FOR Dr. J. L. TODD

He is Appointed Professor of Parasitology in McGill University, Montreal

Dr. J. L. Todd, son of Mrs. J. H. Todd, of this city, has been appointed professor of parasitology in McGill University, Montreal. Dr. Todd is eminently qualified for the position his researches in that particular line since graduation giving him a wide knowledge on the subject.

He is a native son having been born in this city in 1876. He received his education in Upper Canada College. Afterwards he attended McGill, receiving his B. A. in 1898 and his M. D. in 1900, the two occupying a six-years' course. He worked for half a year at the Royal Victoria hospital, and in 1901 he went to Liverpool, where he became associated with the Liverpool School of Tropical Science. In the following year he was sent with the late Dr. Dutton to study sleeping sickness in Senegambia. They returned in the summer of 1903, having found that sleeping sickness was due to infection with a trypanosoma—a blood parasite—conveyed by the bites of stinging flies, which have been infected by biting cattle and other domestic and wild animals of the country.

Drs. Dutton and Todd were sent on another commission in September, 1903 to the Congo Free State, to study the nature of tick fever. During a stay of a year and a half, both were seized with the recurrent form of fever, the former unfortunately succumbing to it. As a result of their arduous work, they were able to collect evidence to show that the human tick fever is due to a spirochaete, another blood parasite, and that this organism can be transmitted by the bite of a tick—a large fly very prevalent in the Congo.

Since his return to Liverpool in 1905, Dr. Todd has been hard at work collecting his data and publishing the results of this expedition. He was appointed director of the Runcorn Research Laboratories of the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, which position he occupies at the present time. He was decorated in 1905 by the King of the Belgians, in recognition of his recommendation of preventive measures for tick fever in the Congo. It is understood, too, that some measures are to be adopted in Uganda and British Central Africa. On the continent Todd is by far the best known McGill graduate of recent years.

FIRE ON STEAMER.

New York, June 28.—Steamer Madonna, from Mediterranean ports, today was damaged by fire caused by spontaneous combustion in one of the holds. No one was injured.

INTER-VARSITY RACES.

(Associated Press).

New London, Conn., June 28.—Harvard won the freshman eight by one and a half lengths and Yale the varsity four-oared race by perhaps 10 lengths on the morning tide on the Thames river to-day.

BRITISH STEEL COMBINE.

Manufacturers Unite to Combat American and German Competition.

(Associated Press).

London, June 8.—A great combination of steel manufacturers is being formed in Great Britain to combat American and German competition, control the British trade and dominate the steel industry of the world. Nine big companies, headed by Vickers, Sons & Maxim, have absorbed 46 independent concerns, giving them control of 90 per cent. of the steel produced in Great Britain. The combined capital of the firms is over $120,000,000.

ALLEGED COMBINE.

(Associated Press).

Toronto, June 28.—Now that Chief Justice Mulock has given his decision in the plumbers' case, the Crown will resume proceedings against the "tack combine," the members of which are at present under indictment. The list of firms, the officers of which have been indicted in connection with the "tack combine," are as follows: The Portland Rolling Mills Co., St. John, N. B.; Montreal Rolling Mills; The Ontario Tack Co., Hamilton; The Peck, Benny Co., Montreal; The Pillow Hersey Co., Montreal and Guelph; The James Pender Co., St. John, N. B.

Their case is a difficult one in several ways, and a test case will probably have to be tried to settle whether they are liable or not.

THE HAYWARD CASE.

Easterly Swears Orchard in 1903 Threatened to Kill Steunenberg.

(Associated Press).

Boise, June 28.—When the court opened to-day in the Haywood case Dr. McGee was recalled by the state for cross-examination.

Dr. McGee had testified that he saw Orchard in the Coeur d'Alenes in 1904 with a man named Cunningham, to whom Orchard claims to have given the Peabody bomb. Dr. McGee was unable to-day to describe Cunningham.

W. B. Easterly was recalled to the stand and denied that he talked with Orchard about the Independence depot explosion. He said Orchard mined a little and gambled more at Cripple Creek in 1903 and 1904. Easterly said the only man who had talked violence at the meetings of the Federation was a mine owner's agent. Meyer and Haywood had always counselled peace. Easterly said he was arrested at Cripple Creek and thrown into the "Bull Pen." He was in bed when the Independence depot explosion occurred, and knew nothing of it till next morning. He went to Victor to get out of the way of the soldiers.

Easterly swore that Orchard in 1903 threatened to kill Steunenberg.

By an act of wanton mischief the famous bell "Savoyarde," which cost £80,000, in the Church of the Sacred Heart, at Montmartre, Paris, has been irretrievably ruined. A vandal had not only cracked it, but made two large holes in it, which he carefully filled in with lead, painted over to resemble the rest of the bell. It will be broken up and recast.

A FERRY IN INDIA.

One of the strangest ferries in the world is to be found in India. A Hindu chanced to save the life of a prince, and as a reward received one of the largest elephants in the royal stables. But this honor caused the recipient much anxiety, as the animal's appetite was too great for his owner to satisfy. The Hindu's house stood near a turn in the river, where many persons crossed, and as the stream was at times a raging flood, boats and men were often carried out of their course. On one occasion, when the elephant was bathing in the river it suddenly occurred to the owner to use the animal as a ferry boat. A harness was made for the elephant, with a long rope, as a trace, which was fastened to a heavy boat. The latter, loaded with passengers, was successfully towed over the river, and since that time the animal has been a source of profit to his owner.—Exchange.

SETTLERS FROM GREAT BRITAIN

IMMIGRATION HAS ONLY JUST BEGUN

Hon. C. E. Cross Says Thousands Will Continue to Come to Western Canada.

Edmonton, June 27.—Hon. C. E. Cross, of Alberta, returned to Edmonton last night after two months' absence in England and Europe, where he went for the purpose of consulting specialists regarding his throat, which has for some time given him considerable trouble.

With respect to immigration and his observations in the Old Country, Hon. Mr. Cross says immigration from the British Islands to Canada has only just begun, and Canada is believed by the people and the government to be the most promising field for colonization. British capitalists are becoming interested in Canada as a field for secure and profitable investment, and a land of boundless possibilities. He attributed the interest of English settlers in Canada to the intelligent and energetic immigration policy of the present minister of the interior, Hon. Frank Oliver. The stream of settlers from Great Britain is setting in with an intensity and greater volume than that which has been flowing over the Canadian border from the United States during the last eight years. What Hon. Mr. Sifton did to advertise Canada in the United States, Hon. Mr. Oliver has done to advertise the western provinces in Great Britain and Ireland.

"Once started," said Mr. Cross, "this flow of immigration will continue to bring in thousands of the very best settlers to western Canada."

"When I left England," said Mr. Cross, "the weather was cold and wet. It was colder than was reported from Edmonton. Weather conditions in France were a month behind the normal conditions this year. Fruit trees and large foliage of the Mediterranean were from three to four weeks behind former years."

"In fact," said Mr. Cross, "the weather has been backward all over the world, and from what I learn, Alberta gains in comparison with other countries, far surpassing England and parts of Europe."

Mr. Cross also said that complaints were general as to the condition of the winter crop in eastern Europe.

THE IDAHO TRIAL.

Davis Says Mine Owners Sought to Disrupt the Federation.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—A. F. Davis came to the stand for cross-examination at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the trial of W. D. Haywood for murder.

Senator Borah took Davis and asked about the period he spent in hiding in the Hercules mine after the Bunker Hill explosion. He said that Paulson and another were there. He remembered two men calling at the mine while he was there. They were union men getting out of the country. Orchard said that he was at the Hercules at this time. Davis was unable to recall Orchard as one of these men, nor could he remember when he first met Steve Adams at Cripple Creek. Davis said he was at home on the night of the Vindicator mine explosion, and denied that he had called at Orchard's house early and taken him to a union meeting.

Davis could not tell when he last saw Orchard prior to the explosion.

Referring to his previous testimony that all was quiet at Cripple Creek before the troops were sent there, Davis admitted that he had heard of various murders there, but that some had occurred after the troops arrived. However, he insisted that he would stand on his previous statement regarding the conditions at Cripple Creek before the troops came there. Davis said the mine owners continually sought to disrupt the Federation. He believed the two men killed at the Vindicator mine were non-union men. Davis also denied that there were unusual features of the Denver convention of the Federation, regarding which Orchard had testified that Haywood had told him that something should "be pulled off."

THT FUEL SITUATION.

Trouble Feared in Winter if Consumers Do Not Secure Supply Early in Season.

Winnipeg, June 27.—Advices to the Canadian Pacific are to the effect that the country consumers of coal are not buying for winter consumption any more largely than they did last year, and that the country merchants are not ordering more largely in advance than they did last year. The impression appears to prevail in Canadian Pacific freight circles that there will be trouble again this winter with the fuel situation unless the consumers and dealers can be persuaded to buy largely early in the season.

EMMERSON-CROCKETT CASE.

Judge's Ruling Results in Postponement of Hearing.

Fredericton, N. B., June 26.—The last has been heard in the courts of the Emmerson-Crickett libel case until January next. Judge P. A. Landry last evening refused to allow the application for a postponement. His decision contained a lot of not easily mistakeable language. Once more he asserted his opinion that the article was written by the defendant editor in the public interests and once more he decided that the defendant's plea should stand and that the demurrer of the prosecution should not stand.

Prosecution Disappointed.

Fredericton, June 27.—The Gleaner bids good-bye to the Emmerson libel case, to the former minister of railways for his failure to face the facts and Mr. Pugsley, K. C., for entangling the case in legal quibbling. The Gleaner celebrated "the triumph" of managing director Crackett by printing under the heading "Slants of Sunshine" the telegrams sent to H. R. Emmerson at Westmorland convention in Moncton last month. The list begins with a message to Mr. Emmerson at Ottawa by Mr. Pugsley, in which the latter said: "I am taking the proper course. You can command my services freely." In a long message wired to Mr. Emmerson at Moncton convention, Mr. Pugsley said: "That you may soon resume the important position which so well and satisfactorily filled, is the wish of your sincere friend and well wisher."

The New Brunswick government press has already found the favorable side of Judge Landry's decision. The St. John Telegraph is silent, but the Sun, a paper in close sympathy with Mr. Emmerson, says editorially this morning that last night's judgment has much the same effect as a postponement. Pending the verdict of the full bench, the indictment still stands against Crockett, who is bound to answer it at the next court. The Sun also says the crown's course has been grossly distorted and misrepresented in the Conservative press. Mr. Emmerson and his counsel are deeply disappointed over complications, as they were confident of a successful outcome of the trial of the case on its merits, but it is obvious that if the interpretation of the effect of the Judge's ruling is correct, they could take no other course than the one followed.

GROWTH OF WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, June27.—The city building total for 1907 has reached the $4,450,000 mark, as compared with $6,800,000 at this date last year. The number of permits issued to date this year is 1581, about twenty less than at this time last year. The decrease in the figures is accounted for by the absence of large permits this year, whereas last year almost every day in the spring season brought in a permit for a building to cost $50,000. The residence growth this year is very nearly as great as it was in 1906, and the population of the city is extending with a rapidity equal to that of any former year.

MAN POISONED.

Rochester, N. Y., June 27.—Peter and David Morad, of Philadelphia, en route to Geneva, N. Y., on the Black Diamond express, last night, accepted a drink of whiskey from Leo L. King, who boarded the train at Wilkesbarre. The three men finished the bottle and King procured a second one. Peter Morad took the first drink out of it, when King discovered that he had given Morad a bottle containing cyanide of potassium. Morad immediately collapsed, and when the train reached Geneva was hurried to the hospital, where he died in a few hours. King was arrested at Geneva. At the station he said he had secured the poison for himself, that he intended to end his life on account of family troubles.

BOMBARDMENT OF UNDEFENDED TOWNS

Subject Before Committee of Peace Conference--The Laying of Mines and Torpedoes

The Hague, June 27.—The first subcommittee (arbitration) of the first committee, met to-day, M. Bourgeois presiding. He read a communication from the Pan-American congress held at Rio Janiero, announcing the results reached on the subject of arbitration and expressing the wish to see these principles adopted by the peace conference in a manner corresponding with the interest of the civilized world. M. Bourgeois also read a communication from Argentina regarding arbitration in general and its relation to The Hague court of arbitration.

The Argentina delegation submitted the text of all the arbitration treaties concluded since the conference of 1899, and began reading the arbitration convention of 1899. Eight articles were read without observation except from Joseph W. Choate, who proposed the addition to article 3 of part II. the words, "and to the desirable end that the signatory powers should offer their good offices and mediation."

At the meeting of the sub-committee on the bombardment of harbors, etc., General Horace Porter's proposition in regard to the bombardment of unfortified towns was chiefly dealt with. Joseph H. Choate, General Horace Porter, David Hill and James R. Scott were present. Dr. Hagerup, president of the sub-comittee, said that the questions referring to the bombardment of undefended towns and the laying of mines, although technical, have also a judicial character, which must be defined in a humanitarian way, thus helping the cause of peace.

Count Tornielli, Italy, and M. Tcharykoff, Russia, announced propositions on the subject of the bombardment of harbors, and Italy, Japan, Brazil and Holland announced amendments to the proposition referring to the laying of mines and torpedoes. The sub-committee also discussed the application of the Red Cross convention to naval warfare.

EVICTED TENANTS' BILL.

Introduced by Irish Secretary in the House of Commons.

London, June 27.—Mr. Birrell, chief secretary of Ireland, in introducing the evicted tenants bill in the House of Commons to-day said: "Rain is falling piteously in the west of Ireland. The turf is rotting and the seaweed used as manure is as wet as when taken from the sea. Such a measure as this bill will be taken by that population as a token of good feeling. It will do much to bind up many a well-nigh broken heart, and in some measure staunch bleeding wounds.

"There are two thousand tenants to be reinstated, and the government wants to make a clear job of it, and must acquire land by compulsory means."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Electric Storm Sweeps Over New York and Surrounding Country.

New York, June 27.—A death-dealing electric storm yesterday afternoon following the sweltering heat, soaked with humidity, swept over the surrounding country, injuring several, causing many fires and doing considerable damage. In this city the only places struck were two churches. The steeples of both were torn into fragments by the lightning bolts.

J. A. McKenna, of Newark, N. J., and his two young daughters, were caught in the storm near Union, N. J. They took refuge under a tree, which a few minutes later was struck by a lightning bolt. The younger girl was killed and the father and older daughter severely wounded.

In a collision on the Pennsylvania railway near Cynwd, Pa., between an accommodation train and a freight locomotive, Engineer Oliver Renert, of the passenger train, was killed and several passengers injured.

UNIFORM BILL OF LADING.

Agreement Practically Reached—Will Form Part of Interstate Commerce Law.

Chicago, June 27.—A binding agreement between shippers and railroads, a dream of American commerce in the form of a uniform bill of lading, has practically been agreed upon. Representatives of commercial interests and all trunk lines of the country have settled upon this form of the new bill and the interstate commission has concurred. It will be submitted for the ratification of the railroad and commercial interests of the country early in July.

The effect of the ratification will be to make the new bill of lading a part of the interstate commerce law. The shippers then will have the thing for which they have clamored for the last decade, a railroad receipt binding on the carriers.

The negotiations have been thus far carried by the railroad representatives and members of the board of directors of the Illinois manufacturers and American Shippers' Association. The new bill holds the initial road and its connections liable for a shipment from the time it is delivered to the consignee at its destination. The Illinois Manufacturers' Association and the American Shippers' Association have pressed the matter before the interstate commerce commission for three years. The conditions were agreed upon at a conference May 24th and 25th in Chicago. The conditions were placed before the interstate commerce commission with the view of having them incorporated into a law that would be mutually protective, and it was agreed that a draft of the bill of lading and connections would be submitted to the railroads and commercial interests of the country early in July.

IRON AND STEEL COMPANY.

Financial Statement for Year—Options of Coal Properties Which Are Being Prospected.

Montreal, July 27.—The annual statement of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company shows the gross earnings to have been $2,247,000, the interest charges for the year $684,000, and the net earnings $1,562,000. From this amount there was transferred to the contingent account $810,000. This item needs explanation. The company for convenience and regularity has charged up the coal used in its operations at an old contract price of $1.27 per ton, irrespective of the cost, this being the price of the broken contract with the Dominion Coal Company, and which will be contested in the courts. The excess cost has been charged to a special account with the Dominion Coal Company as part of the damages for which suit is brought up to May 31st. This amounted to $810,000, of which about $500,000 was paid to the Dominion Coal Company. The balance represents the extra cost of coal bought from others. The earnings available thus amount to $752,000. Out of this the company has taken the sinking fund of the first mortgage bonds and the surplus has sufficed to cover the deficit carried from the past year in the profit and loss account and to leave a credit balance of $318,000. The aggregate earnings from November to February, inclusive, fell off about $250,000 as compared with the average of the preceding months of 1906, due to the breakings of the coal contract by the Dominion Coal Company. The liquid assets show an increase of $467,000. The current liabilities are a little higher than last year, while the net indebtedness of the company is $192,000 less than last year. During the year $306,000 was spent on capital account, the chief item being the Bessemer plant. The company has secured options on several Nova Scotia coal properties, which are now being prospected.

CIRCUS STABLES DAMAGED.

Kingston, June 27.—The fire fighters of the Forepaugh-Sells circus had a practice this forenoon as soon as they returned from parade. The fence and stables in front of the fair grounds, where the tents were pitched, caught fire. The city brigade was augmented by the circus brigade, and they stoutly fought the flames. The stables were badly damaged; loss $2,000.

LIFE-SAVING AND AIDS TO NAVIGATION.

As will be noted from a detailed announcement which appears in the Times to-day, the Department of Marine and Fisheries of the Dominion government has practically completed all arrangements for the establishment of a wireless telegraphic system along the coast of British Columbia. The superintendent of the government wireless telegraphic system, Mr. Cecil Doutre, is in the city attending to the details and preparing for the active work of installation. Stations will be erected immediately at Victoria, Vancouver, Pachena and other important points, while others will be provided in accordance with requirements and with all possible dispatch.

Experience in the East with the Marconi system has demonstrated that it does not work as satisfactorily as could be desired considering the importance of the interests involved. After considerable experience and patient investigation, Mr. Doutre has concluded that the Shoemaker system is the more reliable and dependable. Consequently that system will be established on this coast.

It is evident the government of Canada is determined that if modern science and human ingenuity can devise ways and means of preventing the loss of life which has occurred with distressing regularity upon the Pacific Coast during the stormy seasons of the year, no question of expense will be permitted to stand in the way. Already a road is in process of construction along a portion of the west coast of the Island where vessels have most frequently been driven ashore. This roadway will enable life-saving apparatus to be transported with facility to the places at which it may happen to be required. The wireless telegraphic system will provide the means of effective communication between all points on the coast and enable lifesaving crews and apparatus to be dispatched with the utmost celerity to the places where their services are required.

We think no one will attempt to question the fact that the Department of Marine and Fisheries has acted promptly on the suggestions offered by several of the public bodies of the city in this important matter. Lighthouses, foghorns and every kind of appliance considered necessary for the safeguarding of property and life in the dangerous waters of the coast have been established regardless of cost. When the roadway now under construction is completed and the wireless system in operation we shall have on the west coast of Vancouver Island one of the most complete schemes to be found anywhere, but not more complete than is warranted considering the rapid development of business in British Columbia waters.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE REBUKED.

The British ambassador at Washington, as a historian who has written flattering things of the United States, was received with open arms and warmly embraced when he crossed the Atlantic. As one of the great teachers of the times he was invited to freely express his opinions about republican institutions and to suggest remedies for any defects he might discover. But Mr. Bryce is now finding out that the messages he was invited to deliver are not being received with gladness. The lecture he gave Canadians when he crossed their borders bearing a missive from Secretary Root, was listened to with a good deal of impatience. Indeed in one instance Mr. Bryce was plainly told by a plain-spoken Canadian that experience has taught us to regard with suspicion attempts of Imperial statesmen in harmonious co-operation with American public men to settle trifling matters in dispute between the United States and Canada. The ambassador took the hint and carried his lecture course across the line. Doubtless he has washed his hands of our affairs and has carried away the impression that as a stiff-necked people filled to the crown with a mass of out-of-date prejudices we must be left to conduct our own affairs in our own peculiar manner.

We gather from some things which have lately appeared in the American newspapers that Mr. Bryce's habit of speaking his mind plainly is giving offence to our neighbors also. The editors are evidently beginning to think that while the ideal ambassador ought necessarily to be a man of ideas he need not necessarily be continually seeking for opportunities of giving expression to them. Sir Julian Pauncefote, astute man, was very careful never to attempt to lecture the people amongst whom he dwelt so long upon their political or social shortcomings. He confined his attention strictly to the matters that properly came under his attention as ambassador. He was not a man of profound learning, nor a historian, nor a philosopher—simply a statesman, and, as became his position, a social leader. Pearls of wisdom never dropped from his lips, unless mayhap in the council chamber, where they doubtless were not cast before gatherings which could not appreciate them. The New York Sun has been making comparisons not at all complimentary to Mr. Bryce which suggest thoughts of what has happened to other British representatives to the United States who were indiscreet enough to mix themselves up in the internal affairs of the republic. The Sun says:

As a constitutional lawyer who has been in his time the greatest living authority on the origin and development of our political system, Mr. James Bryce is almost expected to express his opinions on our affairs with a freedom that is not common in the case of ambassadors, who, as a rule, are frank only when they tell the truth in the disguise of after-dinner humor. The present representative of King Edward at Washington is a sort of spoiled child of diplomacy.

In an address at Washington University yesterday Mr. Bryce made a statement which was distinctly platitudinous and gave a piece of advice by implication which was gratuitous. He said that the United States need fear no other country and that we did not need a big navy. With regard to the first he was in a position to judge as an expert on foreign affairs, but we have never heard that he was regarded, at any stage of his career, as an expert on armaments.

If the Right Hon. James Bryce is to remain persona grata, not merely at Washington but also throughout the country, he will have to allow us to manage our own business in our own way.

There is no question that the criminal is often a victim of circumstances and environment. It was a recognition of this truth that led the present Dominion government to establish the parole system which is so ably and judiciously superintended by Mr. Archibald. Nor is there any doubt that the system might be extended with great advantage not only to those whose feet have slipped under temptation, but to society at large. For example, how many of the unfortunates who have fallen into vicious courses without also falling into the toils of the law had any comprehension of the consequences of the first wrong step? Most of them were trapped by creatures whom it were a libel on animal creation to describe as beasts. Society is merciful to the persons who offend against the common or the statutory law. It is willing to extend a helping hand to them and to give them a chance to retrieve their tarnished characters. But convention puts its hypocritical foot down upon another class who have fallen under temptation in more alluring form. It keeps that foot firmly down and inflexibly decrees that only the grave shall cover up the offender and her offences. It must be very distressing to the true humanitarian to realize that this is the one feature of our civilization in which reform is impossible.

* * *

The "unwritten law" is being freely appealed to in the United States as justification for homicide. The case of Judge Loving of Virginia is the most prominent before the courts at the present time, but others of less celebrity are so numerous as to suggest that if this law peculiar to republican institutions is not now recognized by the code it is by the average jury. A New York newspaper says the plea has been laid down in two cases that the law applies to women murderers as well as to men, and to negroes as well as to women. Thus a white jury in the Richland, S. C., County Court, has freed a negro who killed his wife and a negro with whom she had guilty relations. The murderer admitted the crime. The only defence was the unwritten law. Against this the judge, Charles G. Dantzler by name, nobly threw his whole weight. He formally charged the jury that there was "no law higher than the written law." But the jury was unanimous for acquittal. The South Carolina press has applauded the judge's stand, notably the Columbia State, which contrasts his action with that of Judge Harrison in the Strother case, and adds that Judge Dantzler's words "are in complete harmony with the practice of the judges generally in South Carolina," whose "utterances from the bench rarely, if ever, include any let-down in the dignity of the law or compromise the respect in which it should be held by the people." The other case is one in Mississippi, where a woman killed a man who was alleged to have wronged her. Judge and jury both did their duty, and the woman was sentenced to prison. The Supreme Court stood firm. It is the notorious governor of the state, Vardaman, who is to undo their steadfastness and weaken the force of the written statutes by setting the woman free. Thus we are now witnessing the development of the unwritten law in various unexpected directions; who shall say where this form of lawlessness will end?

A correspondent of one of the London journals, writing from Simla about the popular disaffection in India, says that at present the spirit of sedition seems to be confined to the educated middle classes. The ruling chiefs, the landowners, the Mohammedans, the merchants, the army, are practically untouched. The peasantry, where they are affected, are stirred rather by local influences than by any spirit of militant nationalism. But, on the other hand, the agitators having worked the seditious vernacular press to the utmost limit have now begun a systematic village canvass, and are making every effort to enlist the sympathy of the native army and of the peasantry. Competent agencies organized for this purpose furnish itinerant instructors whose limitless mendacity finds a fertile field among a population so credulous and suspicious as that of India. There is, however, he declares, nothing at present to indicate that any part of the native army is affected by the movement. Recent arrests have furnished neither documentary nor other evidence of military association with the seditious propaganda. Moreover, agriculture is flourishing in the Punjaub, a fact which is not favorable to the agitators, although it can not dispel all causes of anxiety.

What Other People Think

ANOTHER WORD WITH M'PHILLIPS.

To the Editor:—There was no need for Mr. McPhillips to plead for generosity towards the city of Vancouver. No objections were made to the erection of a Normal school in Vancouver. It is the omission to build one in Victoria that is complained of. Mayor Morley, ex-Mayor Redfern, ex-Mayor Hayward and other members of the deputation that waited on the provincial government were careful to state that they were not objecting to the Normal school in Vancouver, but were asking that one should be built in Victoria. As to the need of a Normal school here, it is well known that about two hundred permits had to be issued on account of there not being enough certificated teachers to supply the schools of this province. This is a bad thing for the cause of education. In a large centre of population such as we have in Victoria and the surrounding districts there are many who would follow the teaching profession, but whose parents cannot afford to send them for the year's course at the Vancouver Normal school at a cost of about $500 for each pupil.

Moreover, the refusal of the government to establish a Normal school in Victoria places this city at a serious disadvantage from an educational standpoint. Victoria is the only provincial capital in the Dominion that does not possess a Normal school.

Then, as to the construction of new roads, all that the people of this portion of the province expects is fair treatment. Nobody in Victoria has objected to the million dollars spent for the Westminster bridge, nor to the million dollars given for dyking the lands along the Fraser river; nor yet to the half million dollars for the Vancouver court house and Normal school, all of which—amounting to two and one half million dollars—have transpired in the last three or four years. But is it fair that every request which pertains to this city should be refused? And it is a fact that Mr. McPhillips cannot deny that while two and a half million dollars have been given for the carrying out of these improvements on the Lower Mainland (and which, we are happy to state, are very greatly promoting the prosperity and development of that part of the province), yet the McBride government have never given one dollar for the advancement of a single project in the interests of this city and district. The deputations that have waited upon the government from time to time, whether asking for a Normal school or for the construction of much needed suburban roads, or for assistance to the Esquimalt ferry, have all met with the same fate, and got nothing.

How long are the people of Victoria going to stand this kind of treatment?

VICTORIA.

EMBARRASSING, TO SAY THE LEAST

To the Editor:—In case any English tourists are contemplating returning home via Seattle and the United States, we think that the following experiences may be of interest. We took tickets as far as Duluth, engaged a drawing room compartment and rooms at the Butler hotel, Seattle, where we intended to pass the night. Nothing was said by the agent, and on presenting ourselves at the gangway we were told we could not go on board without an alien's certificate, under any consideration. An English passport was treated with supreme contempt. Our baggage was all on board, but we got this off, fortunately, before the boat started. The next day we found with difficulty the inspector, after several attempts. We then received a card, which we had to take a considerable way, and pay two dollars, which will be doubled after July. It is necessary, then, to undergo a medical examination and to answer a long series of questions. No courtesy is wasted, and the proceedings resemble that of a prisoner before a police inspector. All this occupied about one hour and a half, including waiting for the doctor, and we then received a certificate enabling us to visit "God's own country." The officials assert that they are only carrying out the law. The ordeal is bad enough for gentlemen, but the thought to what a delicately nurtured and gentle English lady may be exposed to is terrible. There is no redress, as they are acting within their legal rights. I venture to suggest that travellers should only travel by the C. P. R., where they will receive every comfort and consideration, and leave America to the select who are allowed to enter that happy land.

I. F. BULMAN.

A QUERY FROM COWICHAN.

To the Editor:—Why is it that auto drivers while touring between Victoria and Duncans turn off the trunk road about two miles this side of Cobble Hill and take a by-road about 8 feet wide, running nearly due east, instead of keeping the trunk road running north, the direction they wish to go, and take in the fine drive around Cowichan Bay?

The trunk road is every bit as short as the other, and there is far less likelihood of accidents, as the by-road is so narrow, crooked and forest grown that you cannot see a team until you are on top of it. Besides, for quite a distance the road is cut out of a side hill so steep that there is no way to pass, when either the one or the other would have to go back a quarter of a mile or more.

FARMER.

Cowichan, B. C., 26th June, 1907.

RECKLESS CHAUFFEURS.

To the Editor: Your editorial a day or two ago on the great danger to the general public from the reckless driving of some of the automobiles, both about the city and suburbs, was very timely and much needed. There is no doubt whatever that unless the law lays a very quick and heavy hand upon some of the air-brained drivers of these autos, there will be some very serious consequences arising from their reckless disregard of ordinary care for people's safety. The authorities should not wait to take action until one or more persons are killed, but at once proceed to bring all those to book who are found guilty of defying the by-laws in force, and if possible deprive those convicted from being allowed to act as drivers in the future, for it is evident to any observer that some few of the drivers are light-headed and utterly unfit to be trusted with such responsible positions.

But while complaining of the conduct of some in charge, it is only right that we should not omit to say that great credit is due to many of those using and driving autos here who use every care for the safety of the public; personally I have often witnessed those in charge on observing a timid horse will at once slacken down till all danger is passed; such conduct deserves our thanks.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

A VICTORIA WEST PROTEST.

To the Editor:—There are several questions appertaining to the city on the other side of the water which seem to agitate and occuy all the spare time and faculty of the entire council, oblivious entirely to this section of the city, whereas we have matters as important or moreso completely overlooked.

We have a fire hall, but at 7 o'clock this evening water will, with a sudden spurt, reach a distance of about four feet from the end of a sprinkling nozzle. Where would our water supply come from in case of fire? The Victoria fire chief last year took the pressure in Victoria West, but whether he was instructed when to take such pressure or by pure luck or faulty gauges, he somehow managed to show plenty of pressure, whereas at other periods he would have found practically nil. Some streets have pressure, but Victoria West is also sadly in need of a new redistribution system, having outgrown the old mains, our pressure being good until the sprinkling hours of an evening.

As to the new lines? There is to be a meeting called this day re same. In yesterday's paper the assertion was made that all lines should be according to either the late Jeremiah Nagle's or the late Julian Ralph's survey, those to the contrary to have no claim for compensation. Now such an injustice would be a most scandalous arrangement for Victoria West. The people in the city voted us into this municipality, and from a financial standpoint it was certainly a great move. Both before and after we were taken into the city we had other competent surveyors besides the above deceased pair, and why should lines staked by such reputable and efficient surveyors as Mr. Geo. Hargreaves be entirely ignored?

The gravel pits might be a danger to the public, but the open drains and sewers of Victoria West are far more so. Russel, William, Pine, Kenwood and Esquimalt streets are a disgrace to any city—stagnant pools, houses draining into the road and no attempt being made to drain them. A septic tank is talked about after all these years, but why make grants to a Tourists' Association where of our streets were in order we would need no advertising. The late Julian Ralph when making his survey, had his eyes open. He purchased lot 48, Springfield estate, for the city to buy. I bought it from his executors and have resold it. Now this lot is really a continuation of Henry street to Springfield avenue, and a private person retaining this single lot causes Henry street to become a blind street. The sewer has been laid through Springfield avenue, since which time Mr. Anderson at the corner of Russel and Henry streets, has been notified to connect to sewer. I advised the city that I would allow them to lay sewer through lot 48 from Russell street to Springfield avenue, and Mr. Anderson desired to connect to same. His sewer rental would pay 12 per cent. on the outlay and do away with a source of danger. The city referred it to the engineer for report last November, but I as yet do not know the result of this report. A splendid example of city administration. Mr. Boggs asked and received $150 for the sewer to go through his property. I asked nothing for the same.

Of course, Victoria West school is an old scandal, the sewers being stopped within 100 yards of the school. Why? When everyone else was forced to connect?

Next to our treatment of roads. The rock crusher last summer was put to work on Mary street, but the rock was carted away; the natural dirt was worn to a dust pile by the carts while doing same, whereas a few loads would have put a portion of the road in repair, which portion is well populated. The Victoria West roads are in abominable shape, being the worst in the entire city, no attempt being made to keep them in repair—we are too far from the gravel pits. I am informed that the city were blasting rock off private property after leaving Mary street, whereas we have an abundance of rock on Russel, Esquimalt and Dalton streets that would be doing an immense service to Victoria West if it was blasted out and used on our own roads. We see new roads being opened and graded off. The Gorge road, without a single residence on them, just to suit capitalists, where our populated streets have to go without a road.

Mr. Justice Martin might write about a street not being watered, but why are Victoria West streets not watered where there is supposed to be no shortage of water, and where the population has to pay an excess water rate to a private company? Perhaps, although we have two aldermen representing us, Mayor Morley and the rest of the council are too much, and consider us the slumsof the town. All money must go Rockland avenue way, although amongst our numbers we have as residents, the Lieut.-Governor, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the D. O. C., our troops, the manager of the C. P. R. British Columbia fleet, etc.

But enough, we must sit still to help finance the east end of the town.

JAMES FAIRALL.

Springfield avenue, Victoria West, June 26th, 1907.

ABOUT SWORDS.

They Still Serve a Useful Purpose in Japan.

What are swords for? This seemingly simple question is really recondite. What are swords for? We know that in times past they served a useful purpose. During the Crusades they came in handy as can-openers. To-day they look well in decorative clusters in the hall, or the den; they are objects of household adornment. They also lend their glitter to street parades of the militia, and make the officers look handsome. But these are not the primary uses of a sword. Truth is the sword has no uses in the present-day world. It is as idle as chewing gum. Having made history, it is a thing of the past — along with the bison. It belongs in that limbo to which we aspire to cast the mosquito, the New York street car conductor, and the game of bridge.

And yet, though to many who have made Japanese matters their special study the subject of the sword of the Far East will be trite, and its selections as a topic for consideration may be deemed unwarrantable, it is not so much with regard to its value as a weapon as with certain comparatively little known facts connected with its more recent history that we propose to allude to the "soul of the Samurai." In the first place it may be mentioned that the sabres which Japan's naval and military officers wear in war are invariably swords, old or new, of the pattern, in so far as the blade is concerned, that their ancestors set extreme store by. In the majority of cases they have been handed down from generation to generation. The mounting is, of course, modern in shape and design, but the blade is the handiwork of one of those masters of the sword-cutler's art who flourished in the last century or earlier, and of whom but two of the most prominent now remain, both more than 70 years old, viz., Miyamoto Kanenori and Gwassan Sadamune, recently honored by the Emperor with posts at court. One of the most famous of Japan's swordsmiths was Masakuni, another was Kanemitsu, and their practice being to engrave their names on the metal hilts, the "signatures" affording ample guarantee of the excellence of the weapons. We need not go into the subject of mystic rites by which the forging of the sword was accompanied in the olden times. Suffice to say that the art was held in the very highest esteem, inasmuch as in feudal days the life of the warrior depended in a measure on the quality of his weapon, and the sword was the soul of the Samurai in more senses than one. The blade usually measured 2¼ feet in those days, from tip to hilt, and weighed about 2¼ pounds.

When the custom of wearing two swords in the girdle was prohibited in 1872 and thousands of artisans were threatened with the loss of their means of livelihood, some of the admirals of the Japanese navy were inspired with the notion that their swords might as well be made of the blades of the weapons that had come down to them from their forefathers as with the ordinary sabre blades of modern manufacture. The idea met with imperial approval, and not only did the naval officers adopt this plan, but it is a common thing now to find that military officers have two sabres, one of the ordinary kind for use in drill, and the other—the katana of the old regime with modern mountings—for use in battle. The blade most in demand at the time of the civil war of 1877 in Satsuma was the shorter and lighter than the old style of weapon, and its weight was still further reduced, but the late war with Russia revealed in its desperate hand-to-hand fighting the advantage of the return which was made after 1877 to the length and weight of the weapons used thirty years before.

The sword and the sabre are viewed from quite different standpoints in Japan. Swordsmiths are artists, but sabresmiths are artisans. The number of swordmakers can now be counted on one hand, and the race of experts who make the accessories is likewise rapidly dying out. The best artisan for the task of lacquering the sheath of the sword went over to the majority last year, and the men who apply the cording and shark's skin to the hilt are but two, and both well over 60 years of age. When in 1874 the army of Japan was in process of organization, a large supply of sabres for the officers was needed, and it was suggested that orders for these should be sent to Germany, but a noted sword dealer of Tokio, prayed that this should not be done until the native swordsmiths had an opportunity of showing what they could do. Very soon it was found that the local men could forge sabres, and since that time the army has been supplied entirely with Japanese-made weapons. Moreover, a fair number of sabres have been furnished to the Chinese army by Tokio manufacturers.—Boston Transcript.

A CHINESE "GHOST."

Post Exhumation Troubles of a Man Who Was Buried Alive.

A "ghost" that eats has thrown the towns of the Siang-tu district of China into a commotion. The facts, as related in the North China Herald, are remarkable. The thirty-year-old son of Tzi-lung, a school teacher, was thought to have died of typhus fever. His family being very poor, the body was placed in a frail wood coffin and buried only a few inches under the soil outside the western gate of the town of Siangyang.

A few days after a man put his horse to graze on the spot. The beast found good grass near the grave, and brought its foot down on the soil above the coffin, the lid of which was broken. In a little while the owner of the horse saw a gaunt white arm thrust up through the hole made by the horse's hoof.

Thinking the dead man's "ghost" was about to rise to avenge the insult offered in the breaking of the coffin, the watcher hurried up and began shovelling earth into the hole to keep the "ghost" down. A muffled voice expostulated and begged to be freed, claiming to be the living son of Tzi-lung. The watcher fled in terror to the town, where he told everyone he met of what had happened. The "ghost's" father urged that the "ghost" should be left alone and not further disturbed.

A large crowd, however, went out of the city to view the wonder. The "ghost" kept begging most piteously to be let out. One man had courage enough to unearth the cover of the coffin completely, and open it, allowing the "resurrected" man to sit up. Rice-soup and wine were brought and ravenously devoured by the "ghost," still sitting upright in his coffin, embedded in the earth.

Finally the unhappy "ghost" was released and confined in a temple until he could prove himself to be a living man.

The world's record for the greatest number of divorce cases is held by the Hungarian city of Arad of about twenty thousand inhabitants. Last year's statistics show that 230 divorce cases were tried by the courts and 210 divorces granted.

"Dont hurry," said Judge Willis to a witness at Southwark county court. "This world is the last place in which to hurry—and especially this court."

Mr. Scott is a man of experience, and has a large influential connection amongst Northwesters. He is confident that the well-known attractions of Victoria will attract many residents from the east and the west.

—A delightful outing is promised for Dominion Day next Monday, when the popular excursion steamer City of Nanaimo will taken an excursion from this city to Cowichan Bay for the regatta and water carnival which is being given there. This trip will prove very enjoyable, the sail through the picturesque gulf islands being an exceptionally interesting one. The regatta gives promise of being most attractive, there being 18 events on the programme, while the Nanaimo band will enliven the proceedings. The City of Nanaimo is to sail from the Belleville street docks at 9.00 a.m. and returning will arrive about 9.30 p.m.

—A very happy event took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Chapman, Oaklands, when Rev. G. K. B. Adams, in the presence of a number of relations and friends, united in marriage Mr. Clayton W. Cronk and Miss Clara Chapman. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Belle Chapman, while Mr. W. B. Wellwood supported the groom. The bride was given away by her father, and stood under a bell of roses, while the house was prettily decorated with flowers and ivy. After the ceremony a supper was served and toasts and speeches followed. A number of handsome and costly as well as useful presents were presented. At 11.30, amid a shower of flowers, the happy couple left for their home on Topaz avenue with the most sincere good wishes of their friends.

A CAPTAIN'S BRAVERY.

The barque Serena, of Greenock, arrived at Barry dock recently from Australia, and the captain reported that during a gale on March 18th six of the crew were swept overboard, and four were drowned, a Norwegian, a Swde, a Dane and an apprentice, named Charles Lilley, aged 17, of Whitehead, County Antrim.

A. B. Semple, of Belfast, one of those on board, gave a thrilling account of the passage, and spoke in the highest terms of praise of the bravery of Capt. Dagwall in effecting the rescue of two men, who were also washed overboard. He stated that mountainous seas broke over the vessel and caused her to roll and labor heavily. At noon on the day named, the order was given to bring the ship to the wind. All the crew were mustered on deck for this purpose, and whilst the men were preparing to haul on the lee fore brace, Capt. Dagwall, observing an exceptionally heavy sea approaching, shouted to the crew to hold fast to anything. In an instant, however, the sea broke on board, making the barque reel over till her lee rail was under water, and sweeping six of the crew overboard. Capt. Dagwall ran down from the poop, through the seething water on deck, and forced his way to the main rigging. He here observed two men in the water, clinging to a rope, being towed by the vessel, at times disappearing under the water and at others emerging above the waves.

Soon afterwards the barque gave a lurch, and at very great risk and with considerable difficulty Capt. Dagwall managed to grip them by the clothing and succeeded in holding them till assistance came from some of the crew.

Meanwhile the ship had been put to the wind, and lifebuoys and ropes thrown overboard, but the other poor fellows, clothed in their oilskins and wearing heavy sea boots, quickly disappeared in the icy cold water.

COSTLY CONDITIONS.

Giving evidence before the Royal Commission on Shipping Rings in London J. B. Spens, on behalf of the Glasgow Chambers of Commerce, said Glasgow shippers had had special reason to complain of freights for certain classes of goods, an undue advantage having been giving to East Coast and Continental shippers. His Chamber objected to "deferred rebates" because they were detrimental to British trade, led to preference in the matter of freights and of trade to foreign countries, and destroyed freedom of bargaining on the part of shippers.

J. S. Jeans, of the British Iron Trade Association, said that the shipments of British iron and steel last year amounted to 4,688,846 tons, 1,532,219 tons being shipped to British possessions. Of late the Colonial imports of British iron and steel had not increased as might have been expected, and it was a debatable point whether this was not in some measure due to imperfect and unduly expensive shipping conditions.

"THE PHANTOM STEWARD."

One of the steamers of the Thompson line plying between Montreal and London has had for some time what might be called a "phantom steward." He appears every now and then in all parts of London, and announces the arrival at the docks of presents for well-to-do people, placed in his charge, he says, by their relatives or friends abroad. Money is usually paid to him, but the presents never arrive. He is quite unknown to the steamship company.

BUYS SAILING SHIP.

Alex. McDermott, of the Victoria and Vancouver Stevadoring Company, has purchased the sailing ship Ivy, which has been lying at Esquimalt for some months past. The vessel was advertised for sale at $14,500, but is understood to have been bought for a smaller figure. The vessel was owned in Hongkong, and will now be converted into a barge for the carrying trade in northern waters. Captain Stetson, who brought the Ivy here from Hongkong, has been in command for the past seven years.

MEETS WITH ACCIDENT.

While the steamer Otter was taking on coal yesterday at Ladysmith James Green, the second mate of the vessel, met with an accident which will deprive him of the use of his leg for some time to come. The vessel was moored to the wharf by a cable and was moving from one place to another. The cable in passing along caught on a pile and was drawn out at tension. Suddenly it slipped from the pile and struck Green who was standing close by. The cable caught him just above the knee, knocking him down and crushed his leg very badly. This morning the Otter with the injured man arrived in port, and he was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where the fracture was set and he is doing well.

Throughout the forenoon the Otter was engaged in loading with a cargo of supplies and empty barrels for the whaling station at Sechart. Coal is also being taken to that point and a number of workmen. The vessel had a full cargo list, her decks being loaded with the empty barrels which are used for shipping the whale oil. Early this afternoon the Otter sailed from port.

CARGO FOR GEORGIA.

The steamer Georgia is now at Ladysmith, where she is engaged in loading coal preparatory to coming down to this port. She is expected to arrive here tomorrow morning, when she will immediately commence taking on board 100 tons of hay, 500,000 feet of lumber, which will be brought by scows from the Sound, 200 cases of condensed cream, and 200 cases of other foodstuffs in cans. She is scheduled to sail on Monday for Mexican ports.

Calling at the various ports along the Mexican seaboard, the steamer Lonsdale, the second vessel of the new enterprise, is now on her way to Victoria. She will make an extra call at Guaymas, besides the usual trade ports, Salina Cruz, Mazatlan, Manzanillo and Acapulco. According to advices received from Salina Cruz, from which port she sailed last Saturday, the Lonsdale will reach Victoria about July 15th.

BUCENTAUR ARRIVES.

Coming from New Zealand points the Alley liner Bucentaur reached port this morning, ten days out from Honolulu. At the Hawaiian Islands she was delayed for a week to discharging 2,500 tons of coal taken there from Wellington. During the entire trip she passed through calm seas. Off the Vancouver Island coast a heavy fog was encountered. At the outer wharf 64 cases of tinned meat were discharged, while a further shipment of the same class of goods is consigned to Vancouver, for which port the vessel sailed shortly after noon. An unusual feature of the present trip of the Bucentaur is that she carried two passengers in the persons of A. W. and Mrs. Despard, from New Zealand. An interview with Mr. Despard, who is a Dominion official, appears in another column.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Venture when she was in port yesterday reported having sighted the tug Constance on her way south in the neighborhood of Rivers Inlet. Some days ago a report was circulated in Vancouver to the effect that she had met with a mishap.

Steamer Camosun is expected to arrive in port this afternoon, when she will at once go on the ways of the Victoria Machinery Depot to be thoroughly overhauled and painted. Her next sailing date for the North will probably be Tuesday.

The strike among the New Westminster fishermen has been broken. The canneries and cold storage plants handling spring salmon are being supplied with fish at 4 cents per pound.

Built for the Suez Canal Company, the Hercules, the largest tug in the world, recently arrived at Suez. Constructed at Shields, she is of 2,000 h. p.

With 5,000 tons of cargo, all of which was taken on board at Vancouver, the steamer Monteagle sailed for the Orient yesterday.

Steamer Sonoma, under charter to the Pacific Steamship Company, will leave the outer wharf to-night for San Francisco.

On her way to Skagway and way ports, the steamer Princess May, Capt. McLeod, left port last night.

On her way to this port the Canadian-Australian liner Moana sailed from Honolulu on Wednesday.

Steamer Venture sailed for the North last night, carrying a fair list of passengers.

—A change is being made in the offices of the B. C. Electric Telephone Company which will save those having business with the general office the long climb upstairs. The business office and the officers' rooms are now in the basement, and the whole of the top floor is being used for operating purposes. The new switch board, increasing the present number of 'phones by 420, will be installed where the operators' retiring and rest rooms formerly stood, and the part used as general offices up to the present will be remodelled and used as a rest room.

BASEBALL.

TO-MORROW'S GAME.

The first of a series of games in which the Victoria Superiors will take part will be played at Oak Bay to-morrow afternoon, and judging from the interest that is being taken in the game there should be a large attendance. The Superiors have made a good name for themselves in Seattle, and with the addition of the Victoria boys they should prove favorites with the local fans. The majority of the players are young fellows who work for their living and take up baseball as a pastime, and are not looking for what they can make out of the game. Although it is always necessary that a certain amount should be taken at the gate to cover the incidental expenses, it is not for the money that they are playing. In placing a team in this city Manager Armstrong has filled a long felt want, and it is confidently expected that the game will be well patronized. Since the opening of the summer season there has been many enquiries made regarding a ball team for Victoria, and in answer it has generally been negative. Now that Victorians will have an oportunity of seeing fast ball, it is up to them to take advantage of the opportunity and assist the players by all means possibly. Additional interest has been brought into the game by the presence of Blackbourne and Robertson on the team, and it is not impossible that McQuade will be playing. Those who have followed Blackbourne will have the opportunity of seeing the improvement he has made, and it is expected that the confidences of his supporters will not be misplaced. Many who have seen this popular pitcher at work prophesy a grand future for him if he takes up baseball as a means of making his living, while others more sanguine say that he would be drafted by one of the clubs in the big leagues if he was watched by the baseball scouts. With these recommendations it is quite natural that Victorians as a rule are anxious to see him work, and if he does not make good to-morrow his stock will receive a hard knock. In the game on Victoria day, when he pitched for Everett, his work was gilt edged, and if he continues this brand of ball it is safe to say that the Bremerton players will make but very few runs. Besides doing the twirling, Billy is somewhat of a batter, and in the game on Sunday at Nanaimo he smashed out no less than five hits out of six times at bat, and the sixth time he was caught in the outfield. During the past few weeks Blackbourne has been exercising his arm regularly, and it is now stronger than ever, and it is expected that he will make good to-morrow. Robertson in the outfield will make good any time he plays, and it will be a bad day if he does not get a couple of hits. The players who go to make up the remainder of the team are hard hitters, and if the two Victoria boys can keep alongside and do their share it will not be for want of hits if the game is lost. Although it is not definitely decided whether McQuade will be on the team or not, he will be in uniform ready to get in the game at any time, and if it so happens that he gets a place the spectators will see one of the fastest infielders ever turned out of this city. He is a natural ball player, and in the field he can hold his own with any player in this section of the country. If he is not used to-morrow he will be given an opportunity next game, and he will do his share towards wining the game. The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp in order that the players may catch the boat for home the same evening, and to do this they must start sharp on time. The batting order of the teams will be as follows:

MATCH WITH VANCOUVER.

The High school baseball team will visit Vancouver to-morrow morning to play a return match with the Vancouver High school boys. A number of changes have been made in the team since the last game with the Vancouver team, and the local boys are confident that success will attend their journey.

THE TURF.

CHANDLER FOR LONDON.

Vancouver will have a representative in the twenty-five-mile run for the championship of the world to be held at the Olymic games in London, England, next year. W. R. Chandler, the winner of the Marathon race at Seattle last week, is the representative. This step was decided upon by the Vancouver Athletic Club after Chandler's brilliant victory in the fifteen-mile run at Seattle last Saturday, and was publicly announced at a reception given in his honor Wednesday evening as a mark of the appreciation in which his great work in Seattle was held by the club of which he is a prominent member.

CRICKET.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL WON.

In an interesting game of cricket yesterday afternoon, the Garrison C. C. was beaten by an eleven from the University school of the city. The playing was on the whole of a high order.

Winning the toss the school sent in Messrs. Barnacle and Gillespie to bat. These two batsmen for a while seemed impregnable, but finally with a ball that might easily have deceived a veteran batsmen, Williams took Gillespie's wickets, not, however, before the two had built up a score of 39 runs. Falkner, the next in to bat, was out on a misunderstanding, the result of Mr. Barnacle refusing his call. Collison then came in to assist his master, but was beautifully caught after a brilliant drive to McDonald in deep field. Askey bowled for the Garrison with his old time precision, and Irving becoming impatient fell a victim to a good ball. Green sent up defended his wickets most valiantly, and between him and Mr. Barnacle the score reached 42. Collison, the last batsman in, hit very well indeed, and added 28 more to the score. Mr. Barnacle hit with such vigor that he twice hit four 6's and eighteen 4's.

The Garrison opened their innings with Robertson and Askey at the bats, but Askey ran himself out and Robertson was clean bowled by Gillespie for three runs. Major Williams and Leishman were the only two who seemed able to cope with their opponents' bowling, and the former did very creditably indeed, scoring 52 runs. Leishman was run out and Williams was left to carry out his bat. The score was as follows:

TEAM ON TOUR.

The players have been decided upon who will represent the Victoria C. C. in their two big matches at Vancouver, meeting the Burrard C. C. to-morrow and the Vancouver C. C. on Dominion Day. The team will not be represented in its full strength, however, as a number of the members are unable to leave the city. Mr. J. C. Barnacle has the tickets, and all the players have to do is to catch the boat. The following is the team: Messrs. J. C. Barnacle, captain; F. C. Acton Briggs, A. Coles, H. J. R. Cullen, A. F. R. Martin, J. F. Meredith, D. M. Rogers, T. B. Tye, J. W. D. York, Q. D. H. Warden with Baker.

TEST MATCHES.

A Melbourne correspondent writes to the Australasian World that the draft programme drawn up by the Australian Cricket Association, which has yet to be submitted to the Marlebone Club for sanction, provides for the first test match to start in Sydney on December 14th, the second at Melbourne on January 1st, the third at Adelaide about a fortnight later, the fourth at Melbourne date not yet announced, and the fifth at Sydney on March 16th.

OLDEST PLAYER.

Charles Haydock, of Worksop, who claims to be the oldest playing cricketer in England at the present time, celebrated his golden wedding recently. Mr. Haydock, who is seventy-five years of age, has played cricket for Worksop Town for upwards of fifty years, and despite his age still plays for the same club.

GOLF.

FRENCHMAN WINS.

In the English golf championship, which came to a conclusion a few days ago, Arnaud Massey, the French champion, was first, with 312; J. H. Taylor was second, with 314, and Tom Vardon was third, with 319.

LACROSSE.

FINAL PRACTICE.

The Victoria Lacrosse team holds its final practice this evening before Monday's big match with the Vancouver intermediates in that city. The players will turn out at 6.30 sharp, and after a short practice the team for Monday's game will be finally decided upon.

The boys are in first class condition, and without doubt will give a good account of themselves. Under the watchful eye of Prof. Bob Foster the boys have got to "attend to business," and indeed they have every confidence of success.

The secretary of the club has received application for games from several outside points, and several games are being arranged for the near future.

THE AUTO.

PEKIN TO PARIS.

The Pekin motor-car race has now been in progress for 18 days.

Five cars are taking part — three French, one Dufch, and one Italian. The chief difficulties are expected to be encountred on the route to Kalgan, where at a certain point it will be necessary to take the cars to pieces and carry the sections for some distance on bamboo poles.

The distance from Pekin to Paris is 9,300 miles. The cars will keep together until Irkutsk is reached, probably in a day or two. They will thus have been able to render assistance to each other if required. The Grand Lama of Urga possesses a car presented to him by the Russians, but he has so far been unable to use it. He will no doubt be glad to see the motorists and receive some lessons in its manipulation.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

TEAM FOR LADYSMITH.

The Victoria West Football Club, after some difficulty, have succeeded in getting together the players which will meet the Ladysmith team at Ladysmith on Dominion Day. On account of the very short notice, the team is not nearly as strong as it might have been, but the boys are determined to show the miners what they are made of, and to do all in their power to uphold Victoria West's good reputation as stayers.

The following players will compose the team: Goal, Ross; full backs, Lawson and Prevost; half backs, Tait, Kinlock and Wilson; forwards, Todd, Bailey, Morris, Dakers and Sodger.

ATHLETICS.

AT OLYMPIC GAMES.

American weight throwers will have very little opportunity to roll up points in the Olympic games in England next year, for the events—the hammer and shot—at which the Americans excel, will not be found on the programme.

Instead of these now universal exercises for the big men, there will be the discus, stone and spear, and they will be hurled in the Grecian style, as the method is considered the most classic and in traditional keeping with the Olympic festival.

In the last Olympic games at Athens, England did not have an entry in the weight events, and the fact was the cause of quite a bit of comment after the team reached home. It was suggested that a number of points were lost to the British because they were not adept at those events. However, there was some consolation for the Englishmen when it was figured that America fared but poorly in the discus Greek style, the spear and the stone.

A second in the stone was the only score to the credit of the Americans; the Swedes had the spear honors all to themselves, while the Finn won the discus, a Greek and Hungarian being second and third respectively.

The elimination of the shot-put and hammer throw means that Coe and Flannagan will probably fare poorly. These two great weight men might succeed in qualifying in the stone throw, though they are not picked for first in this event.

Johnny Garrels is the best man on the free style discus throw, but the Greek style may cut down his distance. Garrels will undoubtedly compete in the London Olympic games, however, and no Michigan man will be surprised to see him excel even in the more classic style of discus.

A UNIQUE EVENT.

One of the features of the big Oriental sports which will be held on Saturday afternoon next and on Saturday and Monday evenings at Vancouver, will be the football match between teams representing the Mission Indians and the local Hindu colony. This is undoubtedly one of the most unique athletic events ever pulled off in America. There has been wrestling matches between Hindus and Japanese, but a football match—and Rugby at that—is an entirely new departure.

Con Jones, who is behind the show, has planned many other novel sports, in which the Hindus, Chinese, Japanese and Indians will participate. There will be battles royal, bicycle races, tug-o-war competitions, boxing and wrestling.

LONGBOAT'S NEW MANAGER.

Hamilton, June 27.—It is reported that Tom Longboat, the runner, has severed his connection with Toronto and will hereafter be under the management of Bill Davis, the Indian runner who first recognized Longboat's ability as a distance runner and who made a cleanup with him in the Herald race.

TENDERS FOR DERRICK, SCOW, BOILER AND ENGINE.

Tenders addressed to the undersigned at Ottawa, and marked on the envelope "Tenders for Scow, Steam Engine, Boiler and Derrick for buoy service, British Columbia, or tender for scow alone," will be received up to the

for supplying and delivering at Victoria, a wooden scow and the erection on board of a steel derrick with hoisting engine, boiler and other accessories, according to specifications; also for supplying and delivering at Victoria where directed, a double cylinder tandem hoisting engine, winch to have four hoisting drums and two winch heads, an upright steel tubular steam boiler of 30 horse power capacity, and a structural steel derrick.

Specifications of the machinery and plans of the derrick can be obtained at the Department here, at the agency of this Department, Victoria, at the Customs House, Vancouver, and the Customs House, New Westminster, B. C.

Tenderers must furnish plans of the boilers and engines offered, and state the earliest possible time in which they will agree to make the delivery.

Separate tenders for the three articles, viz., engine, boiler and derrick, will be received, and separate tenders for the scow or tenders for all together.

An accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank equal to 30 per cent. of the whole amount of the tender must accompany each tender. The cheque accompanying the tender accepted will be forfeited, if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract or fails to complete the work contracted for, and each cheque will be returned immediately in case of non-acceptance of a tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department, will not be paid.

VICTORIA'S ROSES ON EXHIBITION

The Admirable Show Will Be Open to the Public This Evening.

The rose show in Assembly hall is now in progress. It will be continued this evening, so that citizens who may not be able to attend during the afternoon may enjoy the treat.

The decorations of the Assembly hall on Fort stret are very elaborate and the display is a grand one. The effects produced by the committee are most artistic. The fame of this city as the home for roses is admirably set forth in the exhibition now in progress.

The various classes of exhibits both professional and amateur, will be well represented, and the numerous entries testify to the keen interest which is being taken in the show by the exhibitors in Victoria. Victoria is an ideal place for the cultivation of roses and the competitors for the various prizes have everything this year in their favor for the perfect display of choice blooms.

Around the decorative basket competition centres the chief attraction of the rose show, and the competition will be keen as there are about 25 or 30 entries.

In addition to seeing what Victoria can produce in the way of rare exhibits, visitors are afforded the opportunity of seeing what fine roses Victorians can produce in their gardens. For this purpose many roses will be on exhibit which are not entered for the prize competitions.

Mrs. Burton in her decorative scheme has by a happy conception, depicted a most beautiful "Rosery," which is very attractive.

The musical programme this evening will be a great source of attraction, as the committee have secured the services of Miss Thain's orchestra. Miss Angus has charge of the refreshment booth, at which tea, cake and ice cream will be provided.

LADIES' MUSICAL CLUB.

Organization Completed by Election of Officers—Plans for Season.

In Waitt's music hall yesterday afternoon the Victoria Ladies' Musical Club completed the adjourned annual meeting, a large attendance of associate and active members being present. The business was chiefly that of the routine order, the election of officers and discussion of the constitution and by-laws of the club occupying most of the time and attention.

The following officers were elected:

President (by acclamation), Mrs. R. S. Day.

Vice-presidents, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. J. D. Helmcken.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Duncan Eberts.

Corresponding secretary, Miss Elinor Hanington.

Treasurer, Miss Alexa Russell.

Executive board, Mrs. P. T. Johnston, Mrs. F. B. Pemberton, Mrs. Moresby, Mrs. Macfarlane, Mrs. Herchmer, Mrs. Marvin, Mrs. Arundel, Mrs. Laing, Mrs. Rebbeck.

Programme committee, Mrs. Hermann Robertson (convener), Mrs. H. E. Young, Mrs. Gideon Hicks, Miss Archbutt, Mrs. Hind.

Several changes of a technical nature were made in the by-laws to make them more consistent with the present size and character of the club, and these changes were adopted without dissent. The programme committee will have charge of the business preparations for each concert given by the organization, and will draw up the programmes which will be published in a year book along with the names of the officers and other information. One of these books will be provided free to each member. All active members will be expected to contribute to the concerts during the coming season, which will be opened by a meeting of the club on Tuesday, October 1st.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

Arrangements for the Annual Outing for Members of Association.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on Wednesday evening in connection with the arrangement of camp details was well attended, and the association decided to pitch their tents on Saturday. About sixteen have already signified their intention of going under canvas, and it is expected that before long a large number more will also take advantage of the outing.

A good wide trail will be opened up so as to render more easy the entrance to the camp, and those who come in after all the work has been done and the camp nicely settled down will be charged an extra initiation fee.

The cost for each will be $2.50 per week, and in view of the excellent cook that has been obtained this is remarkably reasonable. They intend to remain under canvas about a couple of months, and it is fully expected that the time will be as profitably and enjoyably spent as on previous occasions.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

INHERITS LOVER'S FORTUNE.

A young gentleman fell in love with a young girl whom he saw entering a church at Clifton, Bristol. He obtained an introduction, and they subsequently met frequently, though their conversations were of such a character that the girl regarded him only as an acquaintance—at most as a friend. His health was far from satisfactory, and he died after about a year. Some weeks later the girl was informed by solicitors that the gentleman—who was barely of age—had left her some thousands of pounds.

CONGESTION IN PARIS STREETS.

Crossing the Busy Thoroughfares Becomes Municipal Problem.

Paris is rapidly developing a traffic problem. It is the problem of crossing the streets at crowded points at busy hours of the day. The Paris driver has no consideration for the pedestrian; the law does not oblige him to have any, and sometimes the man or woman who attempts to cross a street risks life and limb in doing so. There are police at some crossings and they will occasionally hold up the traffic to let people pass; but there are only a few crossings so guarded.

An engineer named Henard, who has taken up the problem recently, figures that there are 10,000 private carriages and 35,000 rented ones in Paris; there are 16,000 cabs, 4,000 touring automobiles, 650 omnibuses, 1,900 tramway cars, countless wagons and trucks and 160,000 bicycles and tricycles.

The traffic in the streets seems to increase perceptibly from week to week. It is said to have doubled in fifteen years and it is expected to double itself again inside of a decade if nothing happens to check it.

Henard proposes in the first place to establish isles of safety in the centre of all the squares and open places, including spacious intersections of streets. He would then insist on all traffic observing rules much like the system now in vogue [illegible]

It is conceded, however, that this plan will only meet the exigencies of Paris for a short time; and M. Henard believes a system of tunnels connecting sidewalks and isles of safety will have to be constructed. With a Frenchman's eye for ornament, he suggests that each isle may be made the site of a statue or a handsome fountain.

HOW GORDON KEPT SHOP.

When General Gordon first went to the Soudan, he found that the native chiefs knew nothing about money or its use. All the European traders who had visited the country up to that time had paid the chiefs with a handful of beads, or a few pieces of calico, for any work which they had done, and the chiefs prized the beads and calico far more than copper or silver coins.

Now, General Gordon was not quite satisfied to do merely as other people had done. He thought it was time these grown-up children learned to buy and sell with the help of money. But as the people themselves wanted none of his money, he was puzzled how to teach them the use of it.

At length he hit upon a rather clever plan. He made a number of little piles or lots of beads, wire, and other things which they valued, and which they usually received as the pay for their labors. But, when pay day arrived, he gave each man a small coin, equal to an English penny in value. When each man had received his pay, General Gordon, playing at keeping shop, offered to exchange one of his piles of beads or wire for each coin. The men soon saw what was wanted, and thus learned the use of money. Then Gordon put before them other things of greater value, and told them how many coins he would take for each. When the men saw what things were to be bought by saving up a few coins, they refused to buy any more beads. "No," they said, "we will keep the money till we get more, and can buy more expensive things."—Chatterbox.

HOW TO GET MARRIED.

The Paris International Academy of the Dance, an institution to which dancing masters and teachers of deportment belong, opened exhaustive enquiries into the "effect of the dance on matrimony" by sending out letters to all the best known instructors throughout the world. They were requested to ascertain "by discreet inquiries" how and where the pupils met their wives and fiancees. Three thousand teachers of dancing sent in their replies, now published. They consulted 1,100,000 married or engaged men, and 75 per cent. of them assert that they made the acquaintance of their wives or sweethearts at private or public balls or dancing classes. Among the 3,000 teachers themselves 92 per cent. assert that they first met their wives at balls. The greatest number who met their future wives at dances were in Germany. Next came France, then Norway, and fourthly England.

COSTLY LITIGATION.

It was reported to the judge at the Beccles (Suffolk) County court that the costs in an action by which £73 was recovered were £120, and were reduced on taxation to £103.

It used to be imagined that the average level of Asia was much greater than that of any other continent. As a matter of fact, Africa's average level is exactly equal to that of Asia, each being 1,600 feet. The average elevation of North America is 1,350 feet, and of South America, 1,200 feet.

LAUNCH BURNED.

Two Men Were Compelled to Swim to Shore.

At midnight on Tuesday the gasolene launch operated by the O'Brien Logging Cmopany while off Salmon Arm, in Sechelt Inlet, took fire and in a few moments was enveloped in flames, forcing J. M. O'Brien, foreman of the camp, and his companion to plunge overboard to save themselves.

In a moment the thirty-foot launch was a blazing furnace, and before long the little vessel sank beneath the waves, leaving only part of the cabin top to support the crew.

After floating about two hours in the water, the men stripped off their clothing which hampered their movements and commenced the long swim to shore, the launch having gone down about the middle of the Arm. In an exhausted condition they finally dragged themselves upon the beach, where they were discovered by A. Newton, of Storm Bay, who was leaving about 3 o'clock in the morning in his canoe to catch the Hatie Hansen at Sechelt to travel to Vancouver. Mr. Newton was attracted by the flames of the burning launch, and he went over to lend assistance, but finding no one about, was leaving, when a shout from the shore arrested his atention. He paddled in, picked up the exhausted crew of the launch, and took them to Sechelt, where they secured a fresh supply of clothing and were none the worse for their experience. The fire on the launch is thought to have been caused by an explosion.

REVIVED AT INQUEST.

Young Woman Struck by Lightning Lay in Trance for Sixteen Hours.

Redding, Cal., June 26.—Mamie Curl, sixteen years old, daughter of William Curl, was supposedly killed by a stroke of lightning at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the dooryard of the family home on McCloud River, three miles above Baird.

After being mourned as dead for sixteen hours, she returned to life, being resuscitated by Dr. L. A. Bauter, who came with the coroner to hold an inquest and make an autopsy. The parents saw the thunderbolt strike their daughter. They picked up her apparently lifeless body and laid it out in their home, preparatory for burial.

A few minutes before the arrival of the doctor and Dr. Bauter at the Curl home, strange, unnatural twitching of the closed eyelids of the supposed dead girl were noticed by the watchers. The doctor's attention was called to them on his arrival. He discovered at first glance that the girl was not dead, but in a cataleptic state.

PAPER SYNDICATE.

Milwaukee, June 27.—The Evening Wisconsin to-day says: "If present plans are matured the manufacturers of print and other classes of first-class paper in Wisconsin, embracing some twenty-five large mills, will shortly form one of the largest owning and operating paper manufacturing syndicates in the country. The late General Paper Company, which surrendered its charter because of federal objection, and a large majority of the paper mills which formerly were part of the General Paper Company are said to be interested in the proposed organization."

TWO MILLION A WEEK.

What Beggars of Varied Kind Ask From Miss Gould.

It would need $100,000,000 annually to satisfy the people who send petitions to Miss Helen Gould. The requests for gifts and loans she receives aggregate nearly $2,000,000 a week, and they range all the way from asking for $15 for a set of false teeth to $1,000,000 to start a colony in Cuba.

Miss Gould gave an itemized list of a week's requests recently to Franz Kaltenborn, the orchestra leader at St. Nicholas garden. A movement is on foot among the music lovers of New York to make Mr. Kaltenborn's orchestrial music a permanent feature in that city. For this subscriptions from wealthy persons would be necessary. Miss Gould was one of those consulted. She encouraged Mr. Kaltenborn, but incidentally cited the fact that this was not the only thing she was asked to encourage. Then she gave him the list.

In the week referred to Miss Gould received 231 requests for money outright, of these 149 left the amount to her good will and discretion. They weren't particular. More than ninety wanted cash loans. Sixteen didn't specify any specific amount; they just wanted to borrow.

Miss Gould was asked in that week for $5,000 to help form an anti-saloon league in Idaho. She received forty-three requests for aid for churches, twenty-seven for educational institutions and twenty-six for libraries. More than thirty were for help for charitable institutions.

One man proposed to sell Miss Gould his farm for $2,600, which, he said, he thought was a pretty good bargain—for her. Four persons, presumably young women, wanted Miss Gould to help them buy trousseaus. Only one named the sum she expected. The others left that to Miss Gould.

Eleven persons wanted pianos, and twelve wanted Miss Gould to buy their inventions. One persons wrote a long letter offering to give her the last chance to buy a ring for $1,200 which was worth four times that much, if a cent. A girl wanted to sell her a brooch for $500, and still another said she had a lovely Serves vase which Miss Gould "bein' it was her," might have for $500. A son filled with filial love wanted to erect a monument to his father. He suggested that Miss Gould contribute $500 toward that worthy end.

In the long list there was only one request for a musical instrument. Somebody wanted an organ, but another person wanted money with which to print 2,000 hymnals. Followig are some of the other wants: Bibles, bicycles, a farm and three cows, one invalid chair, enough air pillows to supply a regiment of soldiers, one set of teeth, five sewing machines and fifteen railway tickets.

Five persons wanted Miss Gould either to buy their manuscripts or help to sell them; one wanted assistance in getting out an opera, and another help for an oratorio. One person pleaded for help that he might open a photograph gallery. He said that with a gallery opened and paid for his road to fortune and happiness was clear. Another man said that if Miss Gould would give him a horse and peddler's cart he would never ask her for another thing.

More than a hundred letters simply asked for aid—any kind, money, clothes, false teeth, organs, or anything else handy. Thirty-four were frank in asking for old clothes, and three wanted watches. Seventeen only wanted to see Miss Gould to get her advice. One asked for a house, so that he might marry his sweetheart. Another simply asked for the concession to sell Miss Gould's picture for his own profit. One wanted a tip on railway stock. Seven wrote that they had named their children after Miss Gould, evidently going on the assumption that a word to the wise ought to be enough.

As to the other wants, these were silk with which to do some quilting, five sewing machines, help to become a medical missionary, money to enter an old folks' home, money to help get a prisoner out of jail, assistance in selling lace and embroidery, and a donation wanted toward a patriotic league.—New York Times.

CHILD SUICIDES IN GERMANY.

Number So Great That Causes Are Being Studied.

Suicide among school children has become so frequent in Germany that the authorities are devoting serious attention to the causes of it. In Prussia alone there were 1,152 cases between 1882 and 1905, or something like three a month. The yearly number has been even greater in the last two years, it is said. A general discussion of the subject took place recently in Berlin at a meeting of the Society of School Sanitation.

Of the number given above 812 cases were of children attending the lower grade of schools, and 342 the higher, but in spite of this the tendency to suicide appears to increase with age, as the number of children over 15 years who kill themselves was about four times as great as the number below that age. The boys also were four times as numerous as the girls.

In a great majority of cases the suicidal act was committed at home or near home, and not at school or after leaving school. The causes, too, even when school matters were connected with them, usually had their strongest elements in the home.

In more than a third of the cases fear of punishment, dread of examinations, or shame at failure to pass examinations was the prime cause. But in many of these cases, perhaps a majority of them, it was the attitude of the parents, actual or expected, that led directly to the deed.

The lack of correspondence between the actual powers of many children and the results exacted from them by a rigid school system often form the basis of trouble. But the thing that renders it acute is the assumption of irreflective parents that the child must be able to do what the school exacts of it—what other children do.

"He can if he will," was described by one of the speakers as a suicide provoking dictum, as common as it is foolish, since it ignores the fact that human beings are so often deficient in the power to win.

Ten per cent. of the children's suicides were caused by insanity or nervous excitation in a pathological degree. Some of these cases were traceable to hereditary conditions, including alcoholism in the parents.

The remaining cases were almost without exception due to domestic causes, ranging from poverty to shame at the misconduct of relations, especially parents. The influence of morbid books was distinctly traceable.

No grounds could be found for the theory that the conditions of modern city life led to suicide among children. The proportion of cases was fully as large in places of the smallest size as in crowded centres of population.

STORIES OF LADIES' GALLERY.

Communications Between Members of Parliament and Friends in the "Cage."

It may not be generally known by outsiders that if a member of the British House of Commons desires to converse with a lady in the gallery he may do so for five minutes only. Members, especially the young and impressionable, make frequent visits to the cage. Of course it is for the purpose of pointing out the celebrities on the benches below. But if in so doing he should exceed five minutes and so many are the celebrities that he thinks it essential to linger at least a quarter of an hour by the side of his fair friend, the gallery attendant is empowered to call his attention, courteously but firmly, to the fact that he has outstayed his limit.

While one of the reporters was busy taking notes of the speeches a piece of paper fluttered down on his book. At first he thought it was a note from a colleague, but his surprise may be imagined when on opening it he read pencilled in a lady's handwriting on half a leaf of notebook, gilt edged and dainty, the mysterious message, "How much longer, pet?"

The message was not intended, certainly, for the reporter into whose hands it fell. Nor is it likely that it was written to any journalist in the reporters' gallery. But the lady in this case was not only indiscreet but ignorant of the ways of the House of Commons. She could have sent her message through the attendant, sealed and addressed, with the certainty that it would have been delivered to the proper man.

A fan had also fallen from the ladies' gallery into the press quarters below, causing the hearts of susceptible journalists to flutter. That was unintentional presumably. But on one occasion a lady deliberately dropped some documents. It was on the night that Mr. Plimsoll, infuriated by the withdrawal of the Merchant Shipping Bill, went up to the table and, shaking his fist at Disraeli, declared he would be responsible for the lives of the sailors who went to the bottom in unseaworthy vessels. His language became so violent that he was obliged to withdraw before he could complete his protest. Then his wife, who was in the ladies' gallery, dropped copies of the protest in print on the heads of the reporters.

IN MEMORY OF M'KINLEY.

Governor-General's Foot Guards Will Place Wreath on Tomb of Murdered President.

Buffalo, June 27.—Canada will pay her tribute to the lamented William McKinley on Saturday morning, when the Governor-General's Foot Guards, of Ottawa, who came to Buffalo as the guests of the 74th regiment, will lay a wreath on the McKinley monument. The Canadian soldiers have expressed a desire to honor the memory of the martyred president. On the arrival of the guards they will march down Main street to Genesee street, thence to the McKinley monument, where the impressive service will be performed.

ILLEGAL AGREEMENT.

Toronto, June 27.—Judgment has been given in the case of Rex vs. McMichael, in which Peter M. Mitchell, manager of the Dominion Radiator Company, was defendant in an indictment under the criminal code for conspiracy to unduly limit facilities for supplying plumbers' supplies by giving to members of the Master Plumbers' Association a preference of 20 per cent. over other dealers who did not belong to that organization. Chief Justice Mulock held that as manager of the company he had conducted the negotiations which led up to the signing of the illegal agreements. A fine of $250 is imposed, with costs.

BRICK WORKS WERE INSPECTED

DIRECTORS VISITED COLWOOD YESTERDAY

The Process of Manufacture Was Examined--Everything Was Found Most Satisfactory.

The new works of the Silica Brick Company at Colwood were officially inspected yesterday afternoon by the directors. H. B. Thompson, M. P. P., president; J. Kingham, treasurer; R. W. Clark, secretary; Mr. Hinton, S. Johns and T. R. Whitley, manager of the Royal Bank, were among the party. George H. Bradley, who installed the plant, also accompanied the party.

The plant and machinery have been erected at a cost of $50,000 to the company. Messrs. Bond & Clark, of Trounce Alley, were the promoters of the company. The Times of yesterday furnished full details of the claimed superiority of this brick over others at present in the market. There is in fact, very little to be said in addition to what has already been reported. The value of the property, as was explained by the contractor, who is responsible for the working of the plant, seems to be unique from two points of view: first, as regards the quality and unlimited quantity of the lime. It would appear that this lime is unrivalled in British Columbia. According to chemical analysis, it is said to contain 98 per cent. of carbonate of lime and only one per cent. of magnesium. From this analysis the undertaking is bound to be successful from two points of view. Firstly, for the main purpose of the manufactory, and secondly as a hydrated article of commerce in the Victoria markets.

Apparently there are no ferrous salts or anything else to affect the quality of the lime. This seems to be apparent from its color. There is, moreover, enough of this lime to last for over 100 years.

Another point of general interest lies in the fine quality of the vast quantity of the sand itself close at hand. From appearance and from all accounts, it is virtually to all interests and purposes a pure silica sand of exceptionally good quality. It was described to the directors as a "quick" sand, which as is well known, is the finest quality of sand in the market. True, it is not used for filter beds, but it is the quality of silica specially prized in silica brick manufacture. From its very nature it is a sand peculiarly free from pebbles. This in itself is a most important point, seeing that the sand of the property requires almost no sifting.

In addition to these two great advantages which the Colwood plant possesses, another most important point must not be forgotten, namely that these rare qualities of lime and sand are, it may fairly be said in juxtaposition, not only to one another, but also to the plant itself.

Moreover, the company has another advantage, which, in itself, is worth consideration in weighting the conditions of a company, namely, its transportation facilities. These are about as perfect as they well could be. The manufactory is contiguous to the E. & N. railway at Colwood and the platform is so built as to be on a level with the cars, which run along side. Here again, by careful forethought, everything has been done to lessen the cost.

Again, that there will be a great demand for the brick as manufactured by the Silica Brick Company is evidenced by the fact that it is reported that of all the structures erected in San Francisco previous to the earthquake, only those made from Silica brick were able to resist the test of the heat which was generated in the fire which broke out at the time of the earthquake.

In yesterday's issue the Times stated that the brick among other excellent qualities was stated to possess the quality of being a non-conductor of heat. This non-conductivity was well illustrated yesterday afternoon when it was found by experiment that this peculiar property of the brick had been understated rather than overstated by Mr. Bradley. A brick was placed in a blacksmith's forge and its undersurface was made red hot, yet those present at the inspection of the factory were able to place their hands upon the upper surface of the brick. This in itself being a sufficient proof of the assertion that the article manufactured at Colwood was a non-conductor of heat.

The Times has already, in a previous description of the manufacture, described the process of manufacture. This process was plainly shown to those present yesterday afternoon. The hydrating process with the lime, the mixture of the perfectly dry sand and lime, and the moistening process in the mixing trough were all plainly seen previous to the moulding of the brick under the great pressure of the special press, capable of moulding 20,000 bricks in about 4 hours.

The bricks are first moulded and then piled upon trucks, which are wheeled with the brick retort, which is 30 feet long, and about 6 feet 3 inches high. On the vault of this retort are openings for the superheated stream to act upon the moulded brick and to complete the process of manufacture. In this retort they are allowed to remain from 8 to 10 hours. At the expiration of this time the retort is opened at the other end and the warm bricks are immediately conveyed on trucks containing 1,000 bricks each to the adjoining railway siding platform. There they cool, and under the action of the weather, harden. After the lapse of two or three weeks they are ready for shipment. It is felt by the company that before very long many buildings made from their brick will grace the fair city of Victoria.

J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador to America, sailed from New York for Europe on Friday on the steamer La Savoie.

THE McCOLL INQUEST.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury Which Investigated Recent Fatality.

The jury in the McColl inquest Wednesday evening rendered a verdict to the effect that the accident on June 13th by which Mr. McColl lost his life was due to the carelessness of Motorman Stevens and Conductor Manning in not obeying orders, and also to the carelessness of Dispatcher McGuigan in not issuing proper orders, says the Vancouver News-Advertiser. In addition, they blame the B. C. Electric Railway Company for not employing more experienced men. The result of the verdict was that C. M. Woodworth, who represented the Crown, was on the verge of writing out a commitment for manslaughter, when Coroner Diplock dissuaded him, with the view that the verdict scarcely justified so extreme a measure. Mr. Woodworth agreed to hold the matter over for the decision of the Attorney-General's Department, and in the meantime Stevens and Manning were allowed to go on their own recognizances and promise to appear when called upon.

Both Stevens and Manning were perfectly frank in giving their evidence. They admitted receiving orders to cross at Ninth Avenue, but owing to a combination of circumstances the orders had slipped both their minds. The first order given by Mr. McGuigan had simply told them to look out for the shunter on the line, but he had altered it afterwards. Stevens had been a motorman for about four months, but Manning had been in the service of the company for about nine years.

DR. SPROULE INTERVIEWED.

Accuses French Members of Selling Patronage and Charging For Appointments.

Calgary, Alba., June 27.—In an interview this afternoon Dr. Sproule, M. P., sovereign grand master of the Orange Lodge of Canada, made an attack upon the French members of parliament, charging them with selling patronage, charging for appointments and grafting in the most open way.

Dr. Sproule, when asked about the elections, said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had promised, or half promised, that there would be no election until after another session. He did not place much faith in that statement, however, for he had noticed that the premier did not always keep his promises, and the matter of election would be a matter of expedience. He did not know that it would be expedient for an election before the coming session, but he doubted it.

The interviewer asked if it was a fact that the French members opposed an early appeal to the country. Dr. Sproule said it was so. It was always so. The French members liked the sessional indemnity, but, said he, "That is only a small part of it. The sessional indemnity is only a fraction of what comes to the French members. By selling patronage, by holding up contractors, by selling recommendations to office, French members make many times out of parliament what the sessional allowance comes to."

LOVE OF THE JEW'S HARP.

Some Distinguished Performers Upon the Instrument.

The Jew's harp has been a familiar instrument under that name in this island for some 400 years, and is itself of much greater antiquity. In a Scottish witch trial in 1591 it was affirmed, says the London Globe, that a girl named Duncan played "upon a small trumpe called a Jew's trump" before the unholy fraternity of witches on the occasion of their invading a church; whereupon his Scottish Majesty, before whom and his council the trial took place, called upon the girl to play before him a dance upon her "trumpe," which she accordingly did.

Several writers of voyages and travels of the Elizabethan era mention Jew's harps, with hatchets, knives, beads, and the like, as suitable wares to be taken for purposes of barter with the American Indians and other uncivilized peoples. Sir Walter Raleigh mentions that a Jew's harp would purchase two hens, which seems a fairly profitable rate of exchange.

The Jew's harp has had its Paderekski, the late Charles Godfrey Leland, best known to fame as Hans Breitmann, in his "Memoirs," recalling his student days in Germany, mentions a certain Dr. Kerner, who performed on the single and double Jew's harp. Dr. Kerner, says Leland, "from this most unpromising instrument drew airs of such exquisite beauty that one could not have been more astonished had he heard the sweet tones of Grisi drawn from a cat by twisting its tail."

More extraordinary even than the performances of Leland's Dr. Kerner were those given some eighty years ago in London by a compatriot of his named Eulenstein. The late Prof. Chas. Tomlinson, writing in 1895, gave his own recollections of some of Eulenstein's feats. This performer, he wrote, "excited wonder and delight by combining as many as sixteen Jew's harps, including two octaves, in one frame, and he managed to shift them in his mouth so rapidly as to produce what was called fairy music. A performance at the Royal Institution led to his being invited to evening parties." One can hardly imagine a performance on the Jew's harp as one of the attractions at the present day Royal Institution.

But the Jew's harp has gone down in the world. It is no longer played upon at the Royal Institution; no modern Dr. Burney composes music for it; nor will it, as an article of barter, purchase a single hen.

FOR THE STUDY OF ASTRONOMY

AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE NEW SOCIETY

The Local Organization Has Planned Interesting Lines of Study Among its Members

A branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada has been formed in Victoria and the following officers, as previously announced in the Times, have been appointed: E. B. McKay, Surveyor-General for British Columbia, president; A. S. Roberts, secretary, and E. Baynes Reed, acting treasurer. In 1903 a royal charter was obtained for the Canadian society in the thirtieth year of its existence. Since its incorporation in 1890 the Astronomical and Physicul Society of Toronto, has undergone two important changes in title, first in 1900 its name was changed to the Toronto Astronomical Society, and in 1903, with the gracious permission of His Majesty, the King, the society obtaining its royal charter was able to assume its present name and became known as the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

The objects of the society embrace a wide range of subjects of general and special interest to all students of astronomy, and it is the intention of the society to promulgate the results of its own local as well as the researches of the other branches of the society in Canada, together with the publications of all other affiliated societies in America, Europe and all other parts of the world. Special study will be facilitated by means of a choice library, which the local branch purposes acquiring gradually, as the funds of the society will from time to time permit. The members through the society, will have the opportunity given them to pursue their studies in astronomical, astrophysical and such cognate subjects of their special branch of science as the society shall approve of, and which shall in its opinion tend to the better consideration and elucidation of astronomical and astro-physical problems. Further, it is the intention of the society to diffuse theoretical and practical information in such subjects. As stated in the rules, the society will "publish from time to time the results of the work of the society" and will in addition "acquire and maintain a library, and such real and personal property as may be necessary and convenient for the carrying into effect of the objects of the society." An annual subscription of $2.00 will entitle the members to "receive all publications of the society which at present consists of an Astronomical Handbook published annually, and the Canadian Astronomical Record, published bimonthly."

The headquarters of the society are in Toronto and the following are the officers for 1907:

Honorary president, W. F. King, B. A., LL.D, chief astronomer, Ottawa; president, C. A. Chant, M.A., Ph.D.; secretary, J. R. Collins, Toronto; treasurer, George Rideout, Toronto; recorder, Miss Elsie A. Dent; librarian, A. Sinclair, M.A.; curator, R. S. Duncan; council, the officers and the following members: Joseph Pope, C.M.G., F.R.S.C., Ottawa; A. F. Miller, Toronto; Rev. D. B. Marsh, F.R.A.S., Springville; Alfred T. DeLury, M.A.; L. H. Graham, M.A., and past presidents Andrew Elvins, J. A. Paterson, K.C., M.A., and R. F. Stupart, F.R.S.C.

Ladies and gentlemen interested in the objects of the society are cordially invited to become members. Subscriptions can be sent to the acting treasurer, Mr. E. Baynes Reed.

A large branch of the society has been formed in Ottawa with Dr. King as president, and several other branches are being formed in Eastern Canada. It is confidently hoped that before long a branch will be formed also in Vancouver.

There will be a meeting of the Victoria branch of the society in the office of Sydney A. Roberts, Chancery Chambers, Langley street, at 4 p. m. to-morrow. General business connected with the formation of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada will be discussed at the meeting. The hope is expressed that all members will endeavor to be present.

IRELAND'S COAL SUPPLY.

The romance of the coal mine is strikingly exemplified in the rediscovery of an extensive seam at Ballycastle, described in The World's Work.

At the present time Belfast, which it should be recollected, is only one of six important seaports in Ireland, imports 1,218,056 tons of coal annually. In 1905 this total was made up of 725,943 tons of English and Welsh coal and 493,113 tons of Scottish. Of the total, again, two-thirds, roughly, were steam coal, and the remaining third house coal, so that if the Ballycastle mines only produced coal good enough for steam purposes there will be found, practically at their own doors, a market sufficient to consume the 2,000 tons per day which it is hoped to raise when the mines are in full working order within a short time. Of course all will depend on the price, and it is safe to assume that the English, Welsh and Scottish coal masters will not relinquish such a profitable end of the trade as Belfast without a stern struggle. At the present moment, a cargo of coal from Cardiff, or Ardrossan, or Maryport, can be landed on Belfast quays cheaper than from Ballycastle. It will entirely depend on what harbor accommodation is provided at Ballycastle in the near future, whether this incongruity is altered or unaltered.

The health of New York is threatened by hundreds of tons of garbage and rubbish thrown into the streets by residents of many East Side houses, because of the strike of about one thousand street cleaning department drivers.

ADDRESS OF W. P. ARCHIBALD

BEFORE LOCAL BRANCH OF CANADIAN CLUB

Full Report of the Speech Delivered By the Dominion Parole Officer.

At the luncheon given by the Canadian Club yesterday in his honor, W. P. Archibald, Dominion parole officer, spoke as follows:

However viewed, crime presents a great many pressing problems. Many systems have been started during the last century, all pointing to the betterment of our social conditions. It is a hopeful sign and one of progress to know that our Canadian people are thinking seriously on criminal problems, and the enthusiasm which impels the attack of those toiling for the uplifting of our fallen will grow by their efforts until greater victories are finally won.

The man while remaining a criminal, is a constant menace to society, also to the life and property of the individual. He is a tremendous burden upon the resources of the State financially and ethically. He is an abiding heartache to every one with a feeling of pity or an inspiration for the nobility and progress of humanity.

The criminal is not an isolated fiber but a condition of life closely interwoven with all that goes to make our complex social fabric. He is not an isolated but an associated factor. He is something more than a relic from past ages. He is not a mere reversion to a primitive type of humanity, but an actual, if very imperfect, member of our present society.

The criminal is still a man, something more than a curious anatomical specimen of humanity that some would have us believe. Whatever he may have done he is part of that corporate life in which we all live and have our being. I do not believe the criminal act to be a strange deed of a remote and non-human order of being, nor the outcome of satanic promptings, but a part of the conduct of one who is linked in a thousand and one ways with his fellows. The act is anti-social, anarchic, and distinctive, but to understand the actor we must revert to his social conditions and human relations. So likewise we trace our criminal problems to their true rootage and treat them successfully only when we can understand the cause from a broad and scientific view point, seeing in the criminal a social unit not unified, a social factor not socialized, and an ethical possibility not realized. We must set the criminal in the frame of a general history, illuminate it by a knowledge and philosophy of human nature, and a psychology that takes account of all the facts and goes far enough beyond nerves and gray matter to reach the real man with a will, a hope, and a conscience.

We satisfy the human sentiments of our age only when everything possible is done for the convict while under the custody of the law, and, from the penitentiary view point there can be but little honest criticism of the construction, the administration of the institutions, and the treatment of the criminals under their care. Trades of various kinds are taught the inmates, the moral welfare of the prisoner is well guarded by the enforcement of a strong and helpful discipline which teaches the prisoner a self-control that he has never known before, and the chaplains devoting themselves exclusively to the spiritual needs of the inmates have a most helpful influence for the general betterment of the inmates.

Following up all these impressions on the prisoner's general treatment, I am anxious to create a deeper interest and a conscience among the people of this vast Dominion to see that no man is left standing outside of a Canadian penal institution on the day of his or her release, without a friend to aid or the opportunity of following up the good impressions often made while under authority.

My own experience with convicts has been chiefly with discharged or paroled prisoners. What strikes me most of all is not their resentful and ferocious disposition so much as their infantile helplessness. They seem to be poisoned with the pauper virus, and require tonics and training. It is a grievous social wrong to turn this rudderless derelict loose upon the troubled paths of life's sea, for I find a large number of our discharged prisoners are incapable of using an unconditional freedom without an oversight. We must strive earnestly for the day when patrons or friends will be on hand to receive the discharged prisoner, having employment and a helpful environment to assist the unfortunate and the erring into a life of good citizenship. What the discharged man needs is a friend providing practical assistance in his hour of need by giving the man an opportunity to rise on the causeway of redemption.

We realize that in making substantial progress in human affairs we must avoid the gloomy pathway of pessimism, intolerance, uncharity and ignorance on the one hand, and the crude, untried projects of visionary enthusiasts on the other, and with an abiding faith in God and a steadfast confidence in man, do with humility, patience and fidelity the work to-day. By the doing of duty daily we may indeed kindle fires that will burn for centuries and brighten the skies of time.

A man is not to be helped because he is a criminal and has been a prisoner, but because he is a man and needs help. I have no sympathy with that thought, that you are to buy a man off from preying upon society as a criminal by making things easy for him, or wafting the gentle breezes of good fortune in his direction. Bribe-bought citizenship is worthless. Children that are controlled by candy and coaxing are subject to the early germs of criminality. Obedience soon becomes to be measured by the supply of sweets, obedience at so much per obey. Alas, I have known a number of men so destitute of conscience or principle that they cater to the society doing the most for them on their discharge by way of "loaves and fishes," while reformation is seldom given a serious thought. For one class of prisoners going out of prison it is only too true that but little can be done for them. The man who has used his imprisonment to plan another "job," as I have known a small percentage of them to do, does not need the helping hand on his discharge of the suit of clothes to help him on with his "job." But why should this man be given his liberty at all, is often asked.

Our very despair of helping confirmed criminals emphasizes the need of beginning the work of purifying society further up the stream, at the fountain of youth.

Circumstances are not the cause of crime. Man is the cause of crime. Circumstances are but the occasions of its commitment. Men may, and do, commit crime in spite of circumstances and in the best social surroundings. Adam fell in Eden. Some men are eagles to soar, but some are worms to wind their way through the dust of corruption and vice. There is in every man the possibility of crime. This consideration magnifies and emphasizes the problem.

Helping discharged prisoners disappoints a great many people. Instead of accomplishing reformation they are duped and imposed upon. They read some popular novel and take this imaginary estimate of the character of prisoners, they then go forth in their zeal and might to lift up this idealized, down-trodden specimen of the genus homo, who is largely responsible for what he is. They, of course, expect a welcome like "the flowers of May," but they meet the chilly iron bars of reserve and the cold, critical gaze of one who many times takes their measure for just what he can get out of them. Instead of being overwhelmed with gratitude they often meet with suspicion and reproach. The man who is really going to be a help to them must make up his mind to bear suspicion, slander, misunderstanding, reproach, and sometimes cursing, yet withal you will have the joy of meeting some genuinely grateful and appreciative hearts.

Years ago when I first began to help men I used to hand over to others who were willing to lend a hand in this work a bad man occasionally. Some time ago one of these patrons turned on me savagely as he said: "Why, that fellow was a consummate scoundrel; he got drunk as soon as he got out and pawned the very clothes I gave him." I tried to tell him that pearls and diamonds are not picked up every day, but he departed fully assured that he knew all about convicts; he had tried one and of course they were all alike; are they not all dressed alike? So he knew all about it.

A man who is determined to be of practical help in the rescue of discharged prisoners must practice the perseverance of the saints, and at the same time he will see a great deal to convince him of the persistency of devils. Experience is not a motive power, it is a regulating power, and nothing but a genuine love can overcome the difficulties and sustain the heart in the stress of the evil one comes in contact with in the prison atmosphere.

It is frequently the case that the best prisoner proves the worst criminal. The confirmed, habitual professional criminal is, as a rule, the "best prisoner" under custody. You do not need to help him, for he will help himself. Another who may be a first offender has not fallen into the routine of prison habits and discipline, has a will and individuality and self-assertion of his own, violates the rules and seldom gets a recommendation for good conduct and industry from the administration of a prison view point.

There is occasionally a glamor and show about a noted case, a great criminal, and sometimes much done. Sympathy and help are spent unstintedly with little hope of reform, while a better man, far less a criminal, is sometimes allowed to drift unaided. It is an exceedingly perplexing question to determine when a man will turn, and to have the best means at your disposal for assisting him. I speak from experience in dealing with many men on their discharge, and I find even some of the most "hopeless cases" truly reform, while some of the most hopeful ones, to my mind, turn not but drift on.

TRADE AGENTS.

Nine Commercial Correspondents Will Be Appointed By Commissioner Grigg.

Toronto, June 27.—Richard Grigg, commissioner of the Imperial Board of Trade to Canada, who recently made a trip through the Dominion, will appoint nine commercial correspondents or agents in the Dominion to keep the board constantly in touch with all trade matters in Canada. They will be located probably at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Winnipeg, Vancouver and some other city in the west.

THE SENTENCE ON FLOOD.

Deputation Seeks to Secure Pardon For Ball Player.

Toronto, June 27.—A large deputation waited to-day on the Hon. A. C. Aylesworth, minister of justice, who is here to-night working on the pardon for Tim Flood, the Toronto baseball player. Aylesworth talked over the matter with the deputation, but promised nothing. Flood got fifteen days for assaulting an umpire in a game here.

DOMINION CONVENTION.

Programme Under the Educational Convention Meeting to Be Held in Toronto.

The programme and prospectus of the convention which will be held by the Dominion Educational Association in Toronto on July 10th, 11th, 12th, and 13th, has been received by F. H. Eaton, M.A., superintendent of city schools. Special rates have been arranged on the railroads and British Columbia will, in all probability, be well represented. The heavy work of the local teachers' examinations which will be held next week and the correcting of papers and other work following will prevent many of the most prominent educationalists from leaving the province, but a large number of those at liberty have signified their intention of attending the convention.

Tickets will be sold on July 3rd and 4th, and will be good for continuous passage only, every passenger being required to obtain the regular convention ticket from the ticket agent. Return tickets are available until August 9th, and may be extended until August 27th by the payment of an extra dollar.

An excellent programme has been arranged covering higher education, kindergarten, elementary education and general training. Among those who will deliver addresses is Prof. H. M. Tory, M.A., D.Sc., McGill University, who is head of the Royal Institution of Learning. He will speak on "The Place of the University in National Development."

Address of welcome, Hon. R. A. Pyne, M. D., LL.D.; President Hutton, M.A., LL.D.

Replies, W. A. McIntyre, B. A., Winnipeg; Supt. A. H. MacKay, M. A., LL.D., Halifax; Superintendent Inch, New Brunswick; Secretary Parmelee, Quebec.

TO ABOLISH CIGARETTES

Law Goes Into Effect in State of Washington on September 1st.

No more cigarettes in Washington after September 1st, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review. The law forbidding the trafficking of the little substitutes for cigars, passed by the last legislature, will be operative in a little over two months. It was the outcome of the work of the committee on public morals and is as follows:

"That it shall be unlawful for any person, by himself, clerk, servant, employee or agent, directly or indirectly upon any pretence or by any device, to manufacture, sell, exchange, barter, dispose of or give away or keep for sale, any cigarettes, cigarette paper or cigarette wrappers or any paper made or prepared for the purpose of being filled with tobacco for smoking; and any person, for violation of the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall, for the first offence, pay a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 and cost of prosecution, and stand committed in the county jail until such costs of prosecution are paid, and for the second and each subsequent offence, shall pay, upon conviction thereof, a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 and costs of prosecution, or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed six months. Provided that the provisions hereof shall not apply to the sales of jobbers doing an interstate business with customers outside the state."

The law is definite and far-reaching. The presumption is that a man can not make his own cigarettes. Of course he can't if he can not get the necessary papers.

"The anti-cigarette law," said one of the foremost tobacconists in Spokane, "will take at least $25,000 a year out of the town. Interurban street car employees who go across the state line will be bribed to bring cigarettes into Spokane, for the people will have them. They can charge any price they see fit and it will establish a new enterprise while cutting off a part of our revenue.

"The same thing is true of Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Iowa. Nebraska has an anti-cigarette law. People in Omaha like to smoke cigarettes and the conductors on the inter-city electric trains between the metropolis of Nebraska and the little Iowa town across the bridge, make lots of money carrying supplies of cigarettes for which they claim all kinds of prices from the Omaha smokers. Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, will have to put in extra supplies of cigarettes after September 1st."

Dealers in Spokane who sell cigarettes are not replenishing their stocks of the little paper cigars. They were given until September 1st to sell all they had in stock and they are doing it as fast as they can.

QUEEN'S ACADEMY.

Large Attendance at the Closing Exercises—The Roll of Honor.

The closing exercises of Queen's Academy were held on the 26th inst., in the building lately completed on Rock Bay avenue for Dr. Pope's day school for girls. The rooms being very commodious, the large number of visitors were comfortably cared for and they heartily enjoyed the afternoon's entertainment.

The programme consisted of the reading of the academy journals, songs, dialogues, and a bright little play entitled "Chafing Dish Tragedy." The pupils looked very happy in their work and received much praise from all present for the excellent manner in which they performed their several parts.

The decorations were most appropriate and all conceded the building to be artistic and well-adapted for its purpose.

Short addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Cooper and Rev. Mr. Miller, both of whom congratulated the successful pupils and spoke words of encouragement to those disappointed.

At the close the pupils gave three cheers for their teachers.

The following is the Roll of Honor:

GETTING AND STAYING THERE

Securing a seat in the forward van of progress in the mercantile world in these days of keen competition is only accomplished by hard and persistent effort, and so many are ready and eager to jump into it, the same effort must be exerted to keep there. Judicious advertising and up-to-date store method is the dual combination that will place YOU there, and so long as practiced keep you there.

The Times gives a better service to the Victoria merchant, because it reaches so many more readers than anything else will and the cost is more moderate.

THE SOAP MAN IS STILL ON ROUNDS

He Delighted Several Ladies Last Evening Again and Has Gifts for To-Night.

Mrs. J. F. Fisher, No. 177 Fernwood road, $5 on J. Fullerton's shoe store; Mrs. Croot, No. 17 South road, $4 on Henry Young & Co.; Mrs. Vinston, No. 68 North Pembroke, $3 on The Standard Stationery Company; Mrs. Noble, No. 164 Chatham street, $3 on Terry & Marett's drug store.

The above are the lucky winners of prizes given by the Golden West soap man who was out again last night.

He boarded a car going east on Douglas street, intending to go to the city limits, but as it looked as if it might rain he decided to take no chances, so he dropped off the car and started eastward.

The first stop was made at No. 164 Chatham street. What caught his eye was a copy of the Times on the veranda. It was a lucky shot as Mrs. Noble produced no less than 3 packages of soap. She said she used it because it did the best work, and did not injure her hands.

After turning a couple of corners the soap man stopped at a pretty little cottage. A young lady answered the door, but did not know what soap was used. Inquiry brought to light the fact that Mrs. Croot used Golden West for which she received a $4 order on Henry Young & Co.

The next lady called on had forgotten the Thursday half holiday and was just out of soap but promised it would be the last time.

Crossing the street the soap man called on Mrs. Fisher, who was surprised to receive a call and was greatly pleased when she received the $5 order on J. Fullerton's shoe store.

With only the $3 order on the Standard Stationery Company left, the soap man turned down North Pembroke and Mrs. Vinston, the lady called upon, did not know what brand she used, but knew it was the best. When the soap was brought out for inspection, it proved to be the right kind and so he parted with his last remaining envelope.

The orders for to-night are $5 on Paterson Shoe Company; $4 on Henry Young & Co., dry goods; $3 on Terry & Marett's drug store; $3 on The Standard Stationery Company.

It is reported from Tcheliabinsk, says the Novoe Vremya, that a witness appeared in a coffin to give his evidence in court the other day. He has lain in the coffin for twenty years, and cannot now leave it, for any effort to do so brings on violent vertigo.

THE WELL DRILLER.

Perkins & North Are Now Getting Their Machine Together.

The finest well-drilling machine on the Canadian coast is being put together at Prior's warehouse on Government street. Since its arrival in this city it has excited much curiosity. Messrs. Perkins & North have been actively employed in explaining the advantages of all the peculiar points and patents in connection with its machinery.

Though novel to Victorians, it is a machine which has been thoroughly tested. It is built by the American Well Works Company, of Aurora, Ill., for the B. C. Well Drilling Company. In the trade it is known as a jetting and drilling machine, and combines the three methods of drilling, rotary, jetting and rope drilling. It is about two tons in weight, and a 12 horse power gasoline engine is required to work it. The machine is moved from place to place by its own power. No kind of ground presents a difficulty to this machine, and in addition to drilling wells it can be adapted to drilling fence posts and splitting wood.

HUMAN STATUES.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, quoting from the Commercio de Sao Paulo, Brazil, reports that two doctors of Sao Paulo have applied to patent a discovery to preserve the body after death, so that it may do duty as a statue by simply placing it on a pedestal.

The inventors claim that their process provides a surface equal to marble in appearance, and one which is even better in resisting fire and atmospheric influences. They add that such statues would be more lifelike than the work of any sculptor.

The patent authorities received with the documents a long wooden box, which contained the body of a negro boy preserved by the inventors' method and kept for nearly six years.

EMPEROR WILLIAM WILL VISIT ENGLAND

(Associated Press).

London, June 28.—It is authoriatively stated that Emperor William and the Empress of Germany will visit King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Windsor in November next.

STUDENTS MEET.

J. A. Macdonald, of the Toronto Globe, Will Address Convention.

(Associated Press).

East Northfield, Mass., June 28.—The students' convention, the first of the religious gatherings established by Dwight Moody to be held here this summer, opened to-day with college men present from most of the institutions in the eastern United States and Canada. A number of prominent persons will address the students during their ten days stay here, including Bishop Henry Lawrence, Rev. F. B. Meyer, of London; Geo. Gleason, of Osaka, Japan; Robert E. Spear, of New York; Rev. H. S. Coffin, D.D. of Yale; H. Roswell Bates, of New York, and J. A. Macdonald, of the Toronto Globe. John R. Mott, of New York, again presided.

FIRE ON RACE TRACK.

Grand Stand and Trotting Sulkies Destroyed—Loss Forty Thousand Dollars.

(Associated Press).

Boston, Mass., June 28.—Fire last night destroyed the grand stand, bleechers, 16 trotting sulkies and other property of the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' Association at the Headville race track. The stables were saved. The fire started near the middle of the grand stand, presumably from sparks from a locomotive. The total loss is $46,000, covered by insurance.

CLOUDBURST IN MONTANA

Man and Woman Drowned—Seventy Horses Swept Away.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—Miner advices from throughout the state tell of considerable loss of life as the result of high water and swollen streams. Continuous rains have raised the streams to a height seldom witnessed at this time of the year.

The 7-year-old son of Bert Snyder was drowned while at play along the bank of a stream near Forsythe. At Miles City yesterday a cloudburst drowned an unidentified woman and seventy horses. An unidentified man is reported drowned near Glasgow.

MUST SERVE TE3M.

Rancher Pulled Revolver to Compel Automobilists to Stop.

Lethbridge, Alb., June 27.—A rancher named Blasco, of Slav nationality, living north of here, was sentenced by Inspector Belcher to-day to a month at the barracks for holding up Malcolm Young, sheriff of the district, and Mr. Freeman, in the latter's auto yesterday afternoon on a country road. The machine started the horse and Blasco pulled his shot gun as a persuader to the city men to stop. He has done this sort of thing before.

THE TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

San Francisco, June 28.—The telegraphers' strike bears no change on the surface. Assistant General Superintendent of the Western Union says the company had seventy operators at work. He declares everything is satisfactory as far as the strike was concerned.

MINISTERS ENTERTAINED.

Paris, June 28.—The British chamber of commerce to-day gave a luncheon in honor of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, and his colleagues Hon. W. S. Fielding, the minister of finance, and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, the minister of marine.

WILL TAKE NEW POST.

St. John, N. B., June 27.—Jas. Taylor, manager of the St. John branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will retire from that position on August 15th and become general agent for the Annuity Company of Canada for the province of Quebec, with headquarters at Montreal.

For Baby's Health

RIGHT now is the best time to get a Go-cart for your little tot. These delightfully warm days will make baby healthy and happy if he can enjoy his outing in a comfortable carriage. A healthy ruddy glow will take the place of white cheeks. There will be a happy smile always, if he gets lots of good fresh air.

We have a very complete line of the best make. Just now we are displaying many different styles in our Broughton Street windows. These are the famous WHITNEY carriages. The best of seasoned hardwood and superior quality reed only is used. The springs are made of specially tempered steel and all through the workmanship is the best. Our prices are as low as those asked for other makes—they are lower considering quality. Come in and try one.
